Matsus Withdrawal Hinted In Wake of Assault by Reds

School Needs Discussed Here

SEEK BETTER SCHOOLS. Local school officials who attended this morning's meeting at Harding High School study a condensation of a copy of the Ohio School Survey Committee's report. Rep. William L. Manahan of Defiance addressed nearly 100 persons on the survey findings on Ohio school needs. Studying the report are (left to right) D. T. Mills, Marion County superintendent of schools; Manahan; Floyd Hofacker, chairman of the legislative committee of the Marion Education Association, and Robert S. Brown, city superintendent of schools.

Israel Facing Rebuke Over Border Clash

Evidence Laid Before U.N. Security Council Backs Egypt's Claim

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council has let Isreal know she faces strong condemnation unless she can produce a better defense of her role in the bloody Gaza incident.

The 11-nation council made this clear yesterday as it held an urgent session to consider Monday's armed clash near Gaza, Egypt, that killed 39 Egyptians and 8 Israelis.

All council members, except Russia which sat silent, indicated that on the basis of preliminary reports they held Israel responsible.

To Hold Up Debate

The council agreed to a U. S. proposal to hold up further debate on the explosive issue until Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, U. N. truce chief in Palestine, gets here to make a personal report on his investigation of the incident.

Then, in a plea voiced through its president, Selim Sarper of Turkey, the council urged both sides to "maintain calmness and tranquility and abstain from the use of force."

Egypt sought the urgent meeting this week, accusing Israel of "violent and premeditated aggression" against Egyptian forces in violation of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Israel quickly countered, charging Egypt with continuous violations" of the 1949 pact and various council resolutions. She recalled armed attacks by Egypt and accused the Cairo government of refusing to negotiate a peace treaty.

Many Blame Israel

In some 90 minutes, 10 of the 11 council members spoke up to deplore the Gaza incident. Many implicitly blamed Israel. Six offered sympathy to Egypt on loss of life. None did so to Israel.

James J. Wadsworth of the United States called the affair "indefensible from any standpoint." He said the United States opposed any policy of reprisal."

"Armed force will not produce peace negotiations," Wadsworth declared.

Henri Hoppenot of France spoke of "onslaught by Israel against Egypt," Fernand Van Langenhove of Belgium of "flagrant violation" of the armistice and Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand of a "deliberate, planned and disciplined" attack.

Shumsi Hsu of China said, "violent and premeditated aggression by one party cannot be justified by mere continuous violations of the other party."

An Israeli delegation spokesman, in a statement later, said the strong speeches prejudged the armistice commission's ultimate finding. He also said they tended to ignore the background of the Gaza clash—Egyptian attacks and Egypt's "policy of belligerency against Israel."

40 Gunboats Blast Outpost Across Strait

Top Military Talks Continuing in Taipei Between U.S., Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China and the United States went on with top military talks today amid intense speculation in the Chinese press that the Nationalists might be quitting their Matsu Island outposts.

There was no confirmation that Chiang Kai-shek's garrisons would leave the Matsus, 100 miles across the Formosa Strait from the northern tip of this nationalist island stronghold, but security considerations might blank out any news on that score.

The Matsu Island group is only 20 miles off the Red China mainland.

Reds Attack Island

A Red flotilla of 40 gunboats and armed junks staged a brief attack against one of the smaller Matsu islands yesterday. There was no indication it was anything more than a hit and run raid.

But in Honolulu, U.S. Secretary of State Dulles said "I am still concerned about hostile intentions of the Chinese Communists."

Dulles is en route home after a whirlwind trip through Southeast Asia and Formosa. In Taipei Thursday he bluntly warned the Reds they could not expect immunity for their mainland bases if they attacked Formosa.

(A Peiping broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted two Nationalist fliers as describing Formosa as "panic-stricken" over losses of offshore islands and by the Reds' professed intent to "liberate" Formosa.)

Top Level Talks Continue

The Tachen Islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were evacuated by the Nationalists under the protection of the U.S. 7th fleet without a shot being fired in early February. The Nationalists later quit Nanchishan, 140 miles northwest of here.

Top level talks proceeded in downtown Taipei.

Newspapers here speculated that one of the items being discussed was the creation of a joint Nationalist-U.S. defense command in this area.

Join in Talks

Among those taking part in the talks were Adm. Robert B. Carney, U.S. chief of naval operations; Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet; Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the 7th Fleet, and Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the Military Assistance Advisory Group.

Nationalist quarters appeared confident of a big boost in the volume of American military aid to Formosa.

U. S. Building Foreseen

The treat made the two countries formal allies in the defense of Formosa, the Pescadores and American island territories in the West Pacific.

It was generally assumed that the United States would build up the strength of Chiang Kai-shek's

Hawaiian Lava Damages Soar To $2 Million

Volcanic Eruptions In 5th Day, Homeless Toll Increases to 400

PAHOA, Hawaii (AP)—Two rivers of lava, fed by two half-mile-long fissures and lava fountains belching 500 feet in the air, moved closer to the sea today, leaving in their wake an estimated two million dollars damage.

Cane fields, timber and at least nine homes were buried in steaming lava. A village of 70 homes was a ghost town, virtually isolated by the molten rivers.

The lava flows may reach the sea today.

This sparsely settled Puna district of eastern Hawaii is about half the size of Manhattan. For five days it has rocked and cracked under the strains of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. Four hundred of its residents are homeless.

The steaming lava streams cut a two-mile-wide swath across the rich cane land for four miles.

Twenty square miles of the district, on the gentle slopes of Kilauea, is forbidden to all except

Manahan Explains Ohio Survey to Local Group

Cooperation from all groups will be necessary if Ohio is to get the kind of a public school system that is promised in the Ohio Constitution.

This is what Rep. William L. Manahan of Defiance, chairman of the Ohio School Survey Committee of the Ohio Legislature, told an assembled group of about 100 educators, parents, and representatives of various city and county civic groups.

HE SPOKE to the group in a meeting beginning at 9:30 a.m. today in the gymnasium of Harding High School and sponsored by the legislative committee of the Marion County Education Association.

Presiding was Floyd Hofacker, chairman of the education association's legislative committee. Introducing the speaker was Dr. Robert S. Brown, superintendent of city schools. Also recognized were D. T. Mills, superintendent of county schools, and members of the various boards of educations.

Rep. Manahan told the group a little of the history of the School Survey Committee which was formed by the Ohio Legislature in its last session and which has been

Stock Market Killings From Tips Checked

Senators Investigating 20 Cases; Winchell Named in Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today they are looking into about 20 instances in which big stock market killings may have been made through the spreading of "tips and rumors."

This word came from Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee following testimony yesterday that tips given by Walter Winchell on his television show have caused sharp market fluctuations.

Lost on Winchell Tip

The witness, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than two million dollars in less than an hour and a half.

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago. Again, he said, the tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange had not acted quickly to hold the price down.

Denies Interest in Market

Winchell, a newspaper columnist and radio and TV commentator, said in New York no one has challenged the accuracy of his report on the company, and that some of the country's more responsible newspapers have confirmed it.

Winchell said he himself has never had any direct or indirect interest in stocks and added in a statement:

"A sound rule is investigate before you invest. Don't buy anything you aren't prepared to hold for 20 years. That's why I buy U.S. government bonds exclusively."

Fulbright told reporters the committee hopes to learn whether anybody made quick money by buying Pantepec stock before Winchell's Jan. 9 telecast and selling it the next morning when the buying avalanche pushed the price up temporarily.

Asked whether he planned to call

Nixon Finishes Latin American Good Will Trip

Report to Congress Expected To Request More Economic Help

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon packed his bags today for his return home from a four-week goodwill tour of 12 Caribbean countries.

There was every indication that after his arrival in Washington he would recommend closer U.S. relations with all the Latin American nations and increased investments in their economies.

Nixon saw an example of what could be accomplished with the aid of U.S. capital yesterday when he flew over Haiti's $45 million dollar Artibonite Valley power and irrigation project.

Now building with the help of the Export-Import Bank and the Foreign Operations Administration, the project is designed to irrigate 85,000 acres of land and give Haiti a power supply it hopes will attract more industries.

This nation was the last stop on Nixon's tour.

In speeches along his 7,500 mile route, Nixon has emphasized that U.S. government and private capital should increase investments aimed at the economic development of Western Hemisphere na-

River Rising Fast

Towns Along Ohio Will Get 'Wet Feet'

By The Associated Press

The Ohio River, swollen by Friday's heavy rains, swirled toward flood stage from East Liverpool to Cincinnati today. Prospects were many river towns will get "wet feet" in a flood more annoying than disastrous. Forecasters say more rain is on the way.

Dozens of residents of low-lying areas along both sides of the river have been evacuated. Hundreds more will be forced to flee their homes by Sunday. Meteorologists say they cannot forecast crests now.

To Hit Marietta Tonight

Marietta appeared to be the first big Ohio community in the flood's path. A flood stage of 40 feet, which would inundate the low-lying eastern section of the city, is expected by tonight.

While the river was rising about five inches an hour at Marietta, there was a momentary recession at Huntington, W. Va., many miles down river.

But Meteorologist Leroy Stone at Huntington said the Ohio will rise again to "at least five feet above flood stage" from Point Pleasant, W. Va., to Huntington.

Roads Closed

At the far southwestern corner of Ohio, the river stage at Cincinnati was 56.3 and rising slowly. Water begins to pour into homes and businesses in low-lying areas there at 60 feet. Some 29 families have been given shelter in the Cincinnati area already.

As the hours passed after Friday's torrential rains in the Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania area, it became increasingly difficult to move over the state highways into southeastern Ohio. The state highway department reported that at 7 a. m. some 37 state highways were closed by high water.

Families were being moved from low areas at East Liverpool, where the Ohio River first touches Ohio, and at Stratton, Empire and Port Homer, Ohio, and at Midland, Pa., and New Cumberland, W. Va.

Two inches of rain fell in the Wheeling area. Nearly an inch was dropped on much of Western Pennsylvania, The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, which merge to form the Ohio, were near flood stage.

The state highway patrol said many roads in southeastern Ohio were closed as a result of high waters. Rockslides closed Ohio 7 between Mingo Junction and Steubenville and West Virginia 2 south of Moundsville. High water closed

Streams in County Rise; Snowfall Due

The Scioto River flooded out of its banks about a mile south of Newmans today and resulted in the closing of Temporary Route 4.

Water was also reported rising in other streams and rivers in Marion County but no other roads were reported closed.

In one spot on Route 95, east of LaRue, waters from the Scioto River were reported over a portion of the road.

Occasional light rain was to continue throughout today with temperatures expected to turn colder tonight and Sunday. Possible snow is forecast for Sunday. The low temperature reading tonight is expected to be between 15 and 20.

Rail Engineers Set for Walkout

Strike Threat on Pay Issue Confronts NYC

CLEVELAND (AP) — Guy Brown, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said today his union would strike against the New York Central System if necessary to protect a promotion-pay clause in its contract.

The threat against NYC lines east of Buffalo came after the railroad served notice it wants to end the clause which had been agreed to last Jan. 1.

Objected to by the road was a clause which provides a substantial pay boost for firemen who are promoted to engineers.

Passenger firemen promoted to engineers get about $70 a month more under the new clause.

"Our men will strike to protect the agreement," Brown said. "There is no doubt about that. The contract is in full working force, and the railroad will not operate if its provisions are ignored or abrogated unilaterally."

NYC's notice was served under provisions of the National Railway Act. The union now has 10 days to reply, and both parties have 30 days after that to set up a conference on the dispute.

For some time the BLE has been campaigning for a "skilled differential" in the pay between engineers and firemen.

Auto Crash Fatal

Youth Dies, 6 Hurt In Morrow County

A two-car crash near Mount Gilead Friday night brought a tragic end to a basketball tournament trip for eight teen-age boys.

One youth, Kenneth Ivan Evans, 16, of near Mount Gilead, was killed. Two others were hospitalized and four were treated for injuries and released. The driver of one of the cars escaped injury.

THE ACCIDENT occurred just south of Mount Gilead on Route 61. Both cars, with five boys in one and three in the other, were returning from the Class B basketball tournament at Westerville. Their team, the Mount Gilead High School Indians, defeated Amanda 53-50 last night.

Hospitalized at the Morrow County Hospital in Mount Gilead were Wayne Eugene Muffley, 16, of near Mount Gilead, driver of the car in which Evans was a passenger, and Thad Turner, 16, of Mount Gilead, another passenger.

Muffley sustained severe lacerations of the left side of the head, and Turner sustained possible back and internal injuries. They were reported to be in "fair" condition at the hospital.

Donald Lee Drown, 18, of Mount Gilead, driver of the other car, was not injured. Four passengers in his car were taken to the Morrow County Hospital, treated and released.

INVESTIGATING patrolmen said the Muffley car was in the lead when the accident occurred at 10:15 p.m. Both cars were northbound. The Muffley car went off the road on the right side, came back across to the left side, and then was struck by the Drown car on the left rear corner.

The impact of the collision then started the Muffley car rolling over. When it stopped it was right side up on the left side of the road. Evans was thrown clear of the Muffley car about 100 feet away. It was presumed that death was instantaneous, patrol reports said, as he hit the ground and then the body traveled about 25 feet farther, landing face down in about two or three inches of water.

PROBE DEATH OF 3 INFANTS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coroner Samuel R. Gerber ordered autopsies today after three apparently healthy babies died in Cuyahoga County. Dr. Gerber said there was an "outside chance" they died from the same virus he believes killed Miss Ann Moritz, 21, earlier this week. Miss Moritz was the daughter of Dr. Alan Moritz, one of the nation's top authorities on legal medicine.

Wyoming Kidnap-Killer Shot After 16-Hour Spree

GREEN RIVER, Wyo. (AP)—An officer defied threats to a hostage mother and two children to end a killer's 16-hour crime spree with a charge from a sawed-off shotgun last night.

W. G. Sherman, special agent for the Union Pacific Railroad, fired through a window of the embattled home to kill ex-convict Melvin Henry Gray, 27.

Gray, who earlier killed one man, wounded three others—one fatally—and kidnaped a 17-year-old youth, took refuge in the home of Mrs. Gus Kalivas after a running gunfight through this town of 3,187. It climaxed one of the most intensive manhunts in Wyoming history.

While the desperado menaced Mrs. Kalivas and two children, one of a score of officers encircling the house called and distracted his attention. Sherman seized the opportunity to sneak unseen to a front window and fire.

The blast caught the killer in the chest. He stumbled into an adjoining bedroom and officers found him dead seconds later.

One of Gray's pursuers, Deputy Sheriff Ed Phillips of nearby Rock Springs, died of his wounds at a hospital there early today. A bullet fired by Gray in a chase through Green River's railroad yards hit Phillips in the chest.

They had shouted at Gray to drop his gun, and one said he replied:

"I'm dead, dammit—come and get me."

Frank Kulinski, Kemmerer town marshal, was wounded seriously after Gray disarmed him and two companions in the pre-dawn hours at Frontier, Wyo., 87 miles northwest of here. In that same fight, Albert Maffei, 35, Kemmerer garage owner, was killed, and Don Wagner, 35, also of Kemmerer, was wounded slightly.

A young Evanston, Wyo., serv-

Fire Loss Hits $100,000 In Downtown Marietta

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—Fire gutted a section of the downtown business district today causing damage estimated at $100,000 by Fire Chief Dave Drennen.

The 3½ hour fire was reported under control about 7 a.m.

Seriously damaged were the Heiby Building on Tiber Way and the Marietta Surplus store.

Residents of 15 apartments in the adjoining Riley block were forced to flee in nightclothes into the chill morning. Firemen carried one 72-year-old man to safety. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Leaves Moscow by Plane

Hundreds Bid Farewell To Ousted Catholic Priest

MOSCOW (AP)—The Rev. Georges Bissonnette, American Roman Catholic priest expelled by the Soviet Union, left Moscow today by plane.

Hundreds of foreigners stationed in the Russian capital waved a tearful farewell as the plane took off from Vnukova Airport.

The 33-year-old priest from Central Falls, R.I., headed for Helsinki, Finland, where he will await further orders from clerical authorities. He said he expects to be in the Finnish capital two or three weeks.

Ambassadors from the United States, Britain, France and Canada were among the throng which jammed the waiting room at the airport. Later they streamed onto the runway, accompanying the priest right to the plane.

Soviet police canceled Father Bissonette's visa Wednesday without giving a reason and ordered him to leave the Soviet Union. Under the terms of the expulsion, he must be across the Soviet border by midnight.

Chicago's Top Doctors Study Blood Malady

Seek To Protect Life Of Nebraska Child in Danger From Bleeding

CHICAGO (AP)—The top men of several medical skills have joined in the hope of finding a cure for Peggy Lee Davis pretty, 15-months old mystery bleeder "

The blue eyed, auburn - haired girl is suffering from a baffling blood malady that has killed her sister and afflicts her brother and mother

Doctors at Presbyterian Hospital have ruled out hemophilia But they can find no record in medical history of a similar case After 12 days of tests they say only that they have found several leads which could turn out to be promising

Deceptively Peggy is the picture of health and happiness in her padded crib The crib is padded to protect her from cuts or scratches that could start the dread bleeding

But the bleeding also can start from no apparent cause A nose bleed of one day duration has drained off as much as one third of the 25-pound girl s total body blood capacity

Peggy showed no signs of the malady until she was 7 months old

However a year and a half ago Peggy s sister died of a massive bowel hemorrhage at the age of 17 months And Peggy s 6-year old brother has had 53 transfusions to replace blood that seeped into his bowels joints and muscles

Doctors said Peggy s 26-year old mother Mrs Joan Davis of Lisco, Neb and Mrs Davis' two sisters suffer in lesser degree from the same blood condition

Peggy had 20 blood transfusions before Dr F V Veely 40 of Lewellen Neb brought her and her mother from Lisco to Chicago at his own expense Her father Alvin 31 remained home Peggy has suffered no additional bleeding since arriving at Presbyterian Hospital Feb 21 This does not particularly encourage the doctors, however because of the unpredictability of the malady

But unless her condition improves or doctors find the cause and cure she faces a lifetime of blood transfusions with the ever present danger of massive and possibly hidden internal hemorrhage

Two Wyandot Men Questioned in Theft Of Tools and Wire

CAREY — Two Carey men are being held for investigation by the Wyandot County sheriff's department in connection with the theft of wire and tools owned by the village of Carey and the Northern Ohio Telephone Co.

Frank Smith, 43, and his brother Eli, 36, of Carey were apprehended by Carey police Sunday after electric wire and tools allegedly belonging to the village and the telephone firm were found in their possession. A third man, George Roberts, 43, of Carey, picked up in connection with the same theft was later released from custody.

Carey Police Chief Henry Fieracini said he found electric wire and solder in the back seat of Frank Smith's car, which was parked on Worrello St. Sunday morning. Some wire had been reported missing by Robert Hendricks, chief lineman for the village.

Upon investigation, the police chief said the men had numerous tools in their possession, including a three-ton and a five-ton jack.

The trio was taken by sheriff's officials to London Prison Farm Monday for lie detector tests.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Champions of Positive Thought

According to a recent issue of Sports Illustrated magazine, "to raise a 400-pound barbell over your head, it is necessary to think it up there. It helps to have . . . muscle . . . but the muscle becomes superfluous if the thought is missing."

DR. PEALE

The article then goes on to describe the weight lifting success of Norbert Schemansky, world's champion lifter, who says that, if you think right, you scarcely feel the weight. And Tommy Koyo, a Japanese-American with a record almost as spectacular, describes his success: "I try to have a positive attitude I try to think of myself as lifing it."

In tennis, too, positive thinking wins championships. Billy Talbert, captain of the team which this year brought back the Davis Cup to the United States for the first time in five years, credits "a positive approach" as the main factor in the American victory.

AND A FAMOUS track star, Dr. Roger Bannister, applied these lessons from sports to real life in a recent radio talk when he said: 'Sooner or later in sport we run up against decisions which are too big for us to manage. In real life we dodge them. We can play hide-and-seek with reality . . . In sport we cannot. It shakes our roots with its confusing pattern of success and failure. . . . Quick decisions are needed. As a result, sport leads to the most remarkable self-discovery of our limitations as well as our abilities. It was sport that . . . made it easier for me to think about the parallel stress that faces us in real life."

These men became champions because they applied the power of positive thinking to the problems they faced in sport. And, as Roger Bannister points out, they have also learned that the same qualities that bring success in sports can be applied to any life situation to bring a successful result.

FOR MANY years, I have been teaching the techniques of positive thinking. These techniques may be summarized briefly so that you can use them to become a champion of sport or, more important for most of us, to become a champion in real life:

1. Formulate and stamp your mind indelibly with a picture of yourself as succeeding. You can do it and you will do it.

2. When a negative thought about what you are trying to do comes to you, cancel it out with a positive thought.

3. Minimize your obstacles. Take a positive approach to them so that they will melt away. Don't try to dodge them.

4 Believe in yourself and try to be yourself Don't envy or imitate other people. You've got what it takes.

5 Learn to understand yourself so that you may improve yourself. Outside conselling may help you if you find this difficult.

6. Practice positive affirmation. The Bible says: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Affirm this every day of your life.

7. When you have done all these things, put yourself in God's hands. Pray that you may receive from Him all the power you need.

Do these things, make them your way of life, and you too can become a champion of positive thinking

A HOME OF THEIR OWN

From the time they were married Marion and Jim aspired to own their own home, but Jim was a struggling young postal clerk and Marion gave up her job when the babies started to arrive. During the years they clung to their dream even when it seemed an impossibility. They moved from apartment to duplex to rented house and always the unused house plans moved with them.

Marion and Jim were not bitter, for while their material dreams were postponed, others were realized. They raised three bouncing girls and one boy to maturity with a serenity not all parents know. Theirs was a church-going family and their youngsters took to the good way of life like ducks take to water. There were the customary childrens' diseases but no casualties on the spiritual front.

Now Jim and Marion are established in that long awaited home of their own. The children are grown and gone, but they do not feel that fulfillment has come too late. In calm assurance of a job well done they take delight in their reward—a happy, contented life of accomplishment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Massive Support'

One can only hope that Secretary of State Dulles, in his visits to the non-Communist countries of Southeastern Asia, has not made commitments that do not have the support of our government or the American people.

The evidence is conclusive that he is making certain promises. Just how deeply they involve the United States is a matter for later determination, but at the moment we appear to be fully pledged for action.

Laos, Cambodia and Thailand, in that order, were given assurances of assistance, and now South Viet Nam is told it can expect massive support if it is attacked by the Communists.

Just what massive support means perhaps not even Secretary Dulles is prepared to say. It doubtless can be placed in the same category as "massive retaliation," which was used so freely by the secretary in earlier warnings to the Chinese Reds but which since has been discarded as an ineffective cold war tactic.

Dulles has placed much emphasis on plans drafted by the eight Manila Pact nations at Bangkok for the defense of Viet Nam.

Any implication that the pact requires the signatories to go to war to defend Viet Nam or any other Asian country is clearly erroneous. It accomplishes nothing more than consultations among the member nations to determine what course of action should be taken.

However, it is always well to let the threat of armed action hang over the heads of the Communists, who seem to be impressed by the presence of force. To that extent, Dulles is playing a game of poker with the Chinese.

But the day of quick decison may come, and Congress may not be willing to go as far as Dulles has publicly committed us.

It would not enhance American prestige in the Far East to be caught with our bluff down.

The Defective Date

Congress has voted itself a pay increase which, while not retroactive in the generally accepted sense of the word, has some of the features of retroactivity.

The new salary scale of $22,500, agreed to by a conference committee of the two houses, went into effect Tuesday even before the House had completed action on the bill.

But that is not the objectionable point because the conferees earlier had rejected a House-voted proposal to make the increase retroactive to last Jan. 5.

What has been a little difficult for Ohioans to understand is how members of a legislative body can vote a salary increase in which they themselves will participate.

Out our way where things apparently are a little old-fashioned such a maneuver is not only illegal at both the state and local levels, but is considered just a little unethical.

It is perfectly proper, it seems to us, for Congress to vote its members more money. The issue is the effective date. It would seem only fair that every member who had a part in voting it should not become one of its beneficiaries until he can produce his next certificate of election.

This, of course, would not apply to the 400 federal judges, who were voted raises of $7,500 to $10,000, and U.S. attorneys, their assistants and several top Justice Department officials. They had no vote.

The last previous congressional pay increase (from $10,000 to $15,000) voted in 1946 was enacted to take effect only with the opening of the new Congress in January, 1947. The late Sen. William E. Borah (R-Idaho) refused to take the 1925 increase from $7,500 to $10,000 until his new term began in March, 1931.

There is no question of the need for an increase in congressional pay. Most congressmen have to maintain two homes and are subjected to many demands that run up their cost of living.

But good intentions sometimes are penalized by bad performance, and in this case, the means may blind constitutents to the end.

Taking Out the Fun

Several months ago, it was announced that Army medical officers were devising a sort of water pistol which would force vaccine injections through the human skin without use of a hypodermic needle.

The Army now reveals that the gadget is perfected and in use, and the announcement proudly says it is fast and can handle a long line of soldier recruits in rapid-fire order.

The little squirt gun is simply held against a bared arm and a trigger is pulled. High pressure forces the viruses, or whatever the stuff, through the skin instantly and before the rookie can flinch, the pistol's shooting the next man.

It's supposed to be a less painful procedure, but Army doctors and their "cold-hearted" enlisted assistants are going to miss those wisecracks by nervously - waiting soldiers about using ten-penny nails instead of hollow needles.

The needle-plungers got used to that stock inquiry, knowing it often came from a husky he-man about to faint in fearful anticipation.

The GIs will think up new gag lines, of course. They usually do.

But they may have to forsake the old "hurry up and wait" line if the Army doesn't quit this nonsense of streamlining its operations.

Religion In and On the Job

Two Carpenters—A Parable

By EUGENE CARR

Two young men sat together over their lunch one hot summer day. They were apprentice carpenters, learning their trade under the exacting supervision of an oldtime construction foreman.

They had been working in a broiling sun since early morning. They were tired, even though the day was only half gone. They didn't seem to have much interest in their sandwiches. Mostly, they sat resting, silently looking out over the city they called home.

Perhaps they thought of their work, the long hours ahead. Perhaps they thought of the busy streets where they lived, the rush of traffic, the hurry and hustle of people, the bright lights on hot nights. Perhaps they thought of the future, their hopes, their desires, their wants. Or, they may have thought of the past — the Battle of the Bulge or Guadalcanal.

THEY WERE VERY MUCH like any two young Americans—former GI's, starting out on a job, married, planning for a family, earning a living.

"You know," said Jim, "I was reading in a book last night that if you decide on the three things you want most and concentrate on those three things, you'll get what you want."

"Oh yeah!" Joe responded. "Sounds mixed up to me! How can you get what you want just by thinkin' about it?"

"I don't know," Jim answered. "That's what the book said. Besides, it didn't say that you get things by just thinking. You have to concentrate."

"So what's the difference!" Joe snapped. "Thinkin' and concentratin' — they're both the same."

"Maybe not," Jim said. "Could be a difference. Maybe it depends on what you want."

JOE SHRUGGED HIS shoulders and lit a cigarette.

"Tell you what let's do," Jim said, suddenly. "Let's make a list. You make your list. I'll make mine. Let's see if it works."

Finally, Joe agreed. The two took a stubby pencil and scratched out their lists on pieces of wrapping paper. Each tucked his list away in his billfold.

Several years later, Jim was getting out of his car one morning in front of a construction job he was supervising. He thought he recognized the man coming across the street. He hadn't seen Joe since that hot summer right after the war.

"Hey, there, Joe!" he called. "Where've you been keeping yourself? Working, I suppose?"

"Not too much lately," Joe answered. "But say — what's this, a new car? Yours?"

"Well — I do a lot of driving," Jim replied, "back and forth from the shop to the jobs we're handling. We're plenty busy right now. My wife was complaining the other night because I didn't have time to help her move into our new house."

JOE STOOD FOR A moment looking at his old friend. It was evident Jim was doing well — a new home, a new car, a good job.

"By the way, Jim," he said, "remember we wrote down the three things we wanted most. How'd it work out for you?"

"All right, I think," said Jim. "Still got your slip of paper?" Joe questioned.

"Still have it — right here." Jim said, and pulled out his billfold.

"How about tradin' slips, if I can find mine?" Joe urged. "I'd like to take a look at yours."

The two men drew worn and wrinkled pieces of paper from their billfolds.

Joe's list read—

"I want a big job, a new car, a lot of money."

Jim's list read—

"I want to be a better carpenter, a good husband and father, a credit to my God."

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Henry M. Barnhart, inventor of the Barnhart Steam Shovel, was a native of Warren County, and was a descendant of sturdy Pennsylvania Dutch ancestors.

As a young man he purchased a small tract of land lying on the Scioto River and containing a sawmill. Here he embarked in the milling business and later was engaged in the same business in Marion. Later he was employed by the Chicago & Atlanta Railroad, operating a steam shovel.

It was while engaged in railroad work he conceived an idea of improving the steam shovel. The first shovel was constructed in the shop of Edward Huber. In August of 1884 the Marion Steam Shovel Co. was incorporated with Mr. Huber as president, H. M. Barnhart, secretary and manager, and J. Keller, treasurer and superintendent.

In January 1889 Mr. Barnhart was made vice president and general manager. The first year's business after incorporation amounted to $19,000.

Waterway Tolls Suggested

By JAMES FREE

The Eisenhower administration will soon suggest that tolls be collected on navigable rivers and inland waterways of the U.S. This is the informed prediction of Rep. Robert E. Jones, a high-ranking member of the House Public Works Committee.

The Alabama congressman said he had been informed that such a proposal is being worked out in administration circles and will be sent to Senate and House Public Works Committees later this session.

Jones said that the Budget Bureau has been studying this proposal, and that it also has been considered by the Hoover Commission on reorganization of the executive branch of the federal government. Charges for use of the rivers would mean a drastic change in the government's approach to water transportation, the congressman added.

"Since George Washington's time," he said, "the basic idea was that our rivers and waterways were a resource that belonged to all the people and one that should be used for the benefit of all the people."

"Cheap water transportation," Jones continued, "has been a major factor in the industrial development of much of the United States."

Tolls on waterways, Jones declared, would penalize inland ports like Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis and Houston and help ports handling mostly ocean shipments.

The system, he went on, would also hurt traffic on the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers serving the midwest and midsouth, and a boost in freight charges would be felt by business along the Atlantic seaboard from Philadelphia to Florida and along the gulf coast from Florida to Texas.

"Some conservative Republicans have been urging for several years that tolls should be collected on navigable waterways to help pay for the federal expense of building and operating them," said Jones. "The amount of the toll charged would likely depend on the cost of operation and construction."

He forecasts, however, that many Republicans would join a majority of Democrats in opposing any toll program.

"A proposal like this ought not to surprise us," said Jones. "It is in keeping with the administration's idea that the localities have the primary responsibility for building public schools and public highways. It looks like more of the "partnership program" under which the states and localities pay more and the federal government pays less."

Eisenhower Sincere About Retirement

By David Lawrence

President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

The position of Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing.

He was asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

"Did you ever think what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

Now Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he over-looked one important fact — namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office.

IT DOESN'T ALWAYS matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age. Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912.

It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt.

The latter had served two terms in the presidency — one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. Nevertheless Roosevelt was being called a "third termer" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft.

Here is what Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August, 1912.

"A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man.

"The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

EISENHOWER CAN agree with that argument and find himself accepting the nomination of his own party in 1956. For the President today does represent a great cause —the nation's mandate that he find the way to an honorable peace.

Eisenhower probably is convinced at the moment that, if his party had to turn elsewhere, it could find a good man who would make an effective campaign based on the Republican record.

This is something to which the party leaders cannot turn their minds as long as Dwight Eisenhower doesn't say the fateful words — that he would not accept if nominated.

Those are words which, on the other hand, Eisenhower is never likely to say. They run counter to his high sense of duty.

As a military man, he has been accustomed to receiving assignments not geared to his personal convenience or desire. He has learned to recognize instantly a call to duty.

He, to be sure, had achieved eminence as the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe in the biggest war in history and he had made a great record. He needed no more honors.

GEN. EISENHOWER made it clear in 1948 and in 1951 that he didn't want a political career. He succumbed eventually to the argument that it was his duty to serve if the people so desired.

When the people of the country —not just the Republican leaders— say he is needed at the helm in perhaps one of the most dangerous periods in all history, it seems certain that Eisenhower will put aside his desire for a private life in retirement and continue to serve in the presidency.

Loophole in Tax Law?

By David Barnett

A congressional investigation of the "windfall loophole" in last year's revision of the tax laws seems assured.

Both senators and representatives expressed concern over the unanticipated loss of revenue from the "technical" change recommended last year by the Treasury Department and passed by Congress in the revision of the Internal Revenue Act.

Rep. Zelenko said he was writing to Secretary Humphrey for an explanation of the situation.

Zelenko, who brought the "windfall" item up on the floor of the House, estimates the government will lose 5 billion dollars because of the tax-law revision.

Rep. Mills, high - ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, called for a quick House check of the change, which allows some businesses to deduct some expenses estimated for future years as well as those for last year in working out their 1954 tax returns.

Sen. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, expressing surprise and concern at the reports of revenue loss, said he would look into the situation immediately.

Another member of the Finance Committee, Sen. Smathers, said the matter should be "pushed and Sen. Humphrey called the "loophole" another instance of Republican fiscal irresponsibility and "favoritism to those who need favoritism the least."

Meanwhile, the Treasury Department, still sticking to its estimate that the loss will be in the millions and not in the billions, is rechecking the provision (Section 462) to see whether it can be tightened by departmental regulations.

An accurate estimate of the amount of revenue loss from the provision is difficult because there is no sure way of determining just how many businesses will make use of the provision.

Zelenko said his 5 billion dollar figure was based on a sample survey of 20 large and 20 small businesses. The use made of the provision in this sample was projected to the business economy as a whole.

Congressional tax experts say the figure probably is closer to 2 billion dollars.

Rep. Mills, in his call for an investigation, said reports from private tax authorities indicated the loss would be "greater than a billion dollars."

Zelenko said he believes 5 billions was a modest figure but, even if the loss to the government were only 2 billions, it was worth retrieving.

A bill to repeal the provision, introduced by Zelenko, has been sent to the House Ways and Means Committee. The New Yorker said he was appealing to Chairman Cooper for immediate committee consideration of the measure.

The "windfall loophole" probably will figure in the Senate debate on the $20 - per - person income-tax cut. The Democratic measure, passed by the House, was knocked out by the Senate Finance Committee.

The "loophole," called by some experts a "double deduction," can be used only by businesses that operate on an accrual basis. Most individual owners and small operators do not.

Thus, supporters of the $20 tax cut plan to tag the loophole as another Republican measure designed to help "big business."

Sen. Humphrey indicated the line that supporters of the cut would take. He said Congress should pass the reduction and then plug the loopholes and repeal the cut in the levy on stock dividends passed last year.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

How Far Is Up?

The Fulbright stock market quiz show is on and should go well, considering the fact we haven't had a good big question and answer program in Washington since last year's Stevens-McCarthy "Down You Go" production. The best previous one was the Kefauver crime probe. This one lacks a Frank Costello or a Pvt. Schine, and hasn't even a Virginia Hill to spark the entertainment. It isn't even opening with the introduction of a photograph showing General Prosperity standing beside Private Stockholder, and a claim that somebody clipped out the photo of O. B. Cautious.

The quiz is expected to be as entertaining as "Sky's the Limit" but not as funny as "You Bet Your Life." Sen. Fulbright is a Rhodes Scholar. (This is one of the few times a Rhodes scholar has ever admitted he didn't have all the answers in the first place.)

The Senator is the smooth, soft spoken non-dramatic type of prober. He is no scenery chewer but digs deep.

His inquiry is stripping Wall Street of its big wheels for a few weeks. Anybody from that area who has not been summoned has reason to feel neglected.

Brokers are among those to be questioned about the market, despite the fact they are more puzzled than the probers. (We wouldn't be surprised to see the Senate committee catch the speculative fever and split itself three for one.)

We suggest the following questions:

1.—Should buyers of stocks at present levels be required to take parachute jumps just in case?

2.—How is the installment plan doing and is it a good thing for a man to get the big jitters on time payments?

3.—If a fellow is three months behind on his auto payments, six weeks behind on his TV set and not able to meet any payments on the new ranch house, how much money that he hasn't got can he safely put into a corporation which also is having to resort to special financing?

4.—Is there any truth to a rumor that we may soon find a stock quoted at $100 but discover that the certificate and the printed matter are listed as "extra equipment" and cost more dough?

5.—If this market should bust wide open as in 1929, can the shelters of the Civil Defense Service be used by the panic stricken?

6.—Has anything been done about proper routes for the big exodus "to the hills" in a market collapse?

Come what may, the Washington "True or False" show, with the Arkansas senator as master of ceremonies, is good for plenty of public interest and should keep the Monroes, Gabors, Hayworths, Wayne Morses and even Veep Nixon out of the picture for three or four weeks.

It will be interesting to watch the stock market "question by question." If stocks take a big drop during the probe, the committee will be mobbed. If they rise sharply there will be a demand that the inquiry be made permanent. If stocks show no interest, it will be a reflection on Rhodes Scholars.

Marshal Tito is prepared to throw Mike Todd against all his foes, confident in the supremacy of the best wide-screen army in Europe. We hear that in the use of the Yugoslav army for the movies, Esther Williams and Jane Russell may be put in charge of underwater divisions.

If the new Marquand book "Sincerely, Willis Wayde" is bought by Hollywood, will the picture be called "Going My Wayde"?

Ringling Brothers circus opens at Madison Square Garden in a few weeks, with John Ringling North doing the music and Irving Caesar writing the lyrics.

"Omnibus" is to present an opera of "Casey At The Bat" and since Casey struck out with the bases full, we assume there will be special "swing" music. (Alistair Cooke will pitch.)

Justice William O. Douglas of our Supreme Court has been given permission by the Kremlin to tour six Soviet republics. The publicity will be split fifty-fifty. The justice will make the tour by auto, his saddle horse having been pretty well used up in previous books.

Colored auto tires will soon be on the market and you can imagine how a woman with just whitewalls is going to feel when the lady next door drives home with a cerise sedan with canary yellow wheels.

A federal taxation institute will be combined with a District 5 meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association to be held at Lima on Saturday, March 12, under the auspices of the Allen County Bar Association.

Attorneys from Marion, Allen, Crawford, Hardin, Morrow, Seneca and Wyandot counties have been invited to attend the meeting which will be held at the Barr Hotel.

A representative will be elected to the state bar executiv commitee for a three year term commencing July 1, 1955, to succeed John Marsh Jr. of Delphos and a member of the state bar council of delegates will be named for a two year term commencing July 1 to succeed J. C. A. Arter of Marion.

Howard Crown of Columbus will explain how the 1954 internal revenue act affects partnerships and Charles W. Slicer of Dayton will explain how it affects estates and trusts. Both are on the afternoon program. Eliot I. Kaplan of Toledo will speak on the effect of the act on individuals at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the hotel ballroom.

John C. Durfey of Springfield, president of the Ohio State Bar Association, will also be introduced at the dinner at which Robert Tait of Lima, vice president of the Allen County Bar Association, will preside. Marsh, president of the Allen County Bar Association, will preside at the afternoon session.

Election Declared Legal By Third District Court

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Third District Court of Appeals at Lima has ruled that Defiance attorney Dan Batt was "legally" elected Defiance County Common Pleas Court judge last Nov. 2.

Former Judge H. B. Mullholand, who conducted a write-in campaign for the bench post, contested Batt's election on grounds that election officials didn't count the write-in ballots on advice of the secretary of state. Mullholand has indicated he will appeal the court's ruling, disclosed here yesterday in a journal entry.

Growing Pains

Time for 'Battle of Bugs' In Garden Approaching

By ALBERT S FULLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

About this time of the year early signs of the approaching conflict in the garden becomes evident

The average temperature slowly is rising An occasional crocus pokes its head The chickadee starts singing its Spring 'pheo-beee" song The dog comes home more often with mud instead of ice on the paws

IT IS TIME FOR the annual battle of man against insect

Just you get something growing in the garden—early or late—and there's some wee thing awake eager and hungry for a square meal from your plants

The time to get busy with spray or duster is right in the beginning of the garden season Procrastination in this department puts you right behind the eight ball

Man in his continuing fight against the varied types of shock troops assembled and ready in the garden sometimes argues about how best to carry the battle

There are the liquid spray boys and those who swear by dusting methods Some use both in the course of a season

INSECTS GENERALLY fall into the chewing or sucking varieties You've got to be armed for both

If you use a liquid spray your weapons can range from the simple hand spray to pumps knapsack types simple atomizers, or even power sprayers

For dusting, there's the hand duster knapsack or bellows type

A big boon to the small garden is the all purpose spray duster developed in recent years It does a generally good job saves extensive purchase of insect poisons and in many cases comes in a self-contained duster

'Should this turn out to be a big Japanese beetle year you've got to be ready for them too A good way to handle the beetles spray or not is to pick them by hand and drop them into a bottle with DDT solution

Your fruit trees need a regular spray schedule or you either will get no fruit or a crop of worm eaten apples

NOW IS THE TIME to prepare for B-Day (bugs that is)

Visit your garden shop and consult about sprayers liquids and dusts Get them early You'll find later in the season there's a tendency on the part of shop keepers to let their stocks run low on the particular item you want

Once you get the supplies on hand find a safe spot far out of the reach of the hands of the youngsters and lock it securely Some of the garden sprays and dusts are potent poison to humans as well as insects

The type of season in prospect will determine the concentration of destructive insects You've got to be prepared for all eventualities, just as the soldier is when he prepares to hit the beachhead

The attack in the garden won't come suddenly but the overall effect of unrestrained insect attack will leave you with your plants down

Blisters Give Warning

Nowadays we live in smaller and tighter houses than those of our grandparents Modern insulation seals a house as it saves fuel In consequence excessive moisture created by modern living conditions, is often unable to escape to the outside unless proper ventilation is provided

Lacking an adequate "escape hatch" moisture vapor is likely to work its way through walls and condense to water in the siding under the exterior paint When this happens blisters are produced which finally break and cause the surrounding paint to peel

Blisters on a paint coating are warning signals that you need to seek the cause of the trouble and correct it

Perforated Panels Make Practical Picture Walls

Nice walls can be saved from nail mars Some families have selected an entire wall or perhaps a large portion of one, for hanging pictures On this area they can place pictures at any location with never a concern about scars

They have in effect a "working wall —simply some perforated hardboard panels with rows and rows of attractively spaced holes The pictures are hung from metal fixtures which lock into place but can be moved instantly to any location

These functional and attractive panels may be installed over any existing walls or in new construction right over wall studs Lumber dealers have both the 'peg board' panels and various types of metal hangers

For variety on this wall of pictures the homemaker may want to display a planter Special brackets are available for supporting a shelf to hold it Art objects or a clock may be hung on this wall similarly

Being a hardboard product "peg-board paints beautifully in any color A picture wall or area lends itself to beauty and variety There's nothing static about this versatile 'working wall'!

TREAT KNOTS

Before painting over a knot be sure to fill any cavities with plastic wood or wood putty and then apply a sealer to the area to prevent the sap in the knot from staining the new coating This sealer may be a product made especially for the purpose or shellac When you use shellac remember that you usually need alcohol to cut or thin it The label on the can will let you know the proportions to use

Tops of Glass Add Years of Life to Tables

Tops of polished plate glass will add years to the youthful look of fine furniture according to June Cabot home arts consultant to a glass company and old or marred furniture can be made to look new again with tops of opaque patterned or colored plate glass

A glass top on a table desk or vanity brings out the fine grain of the wood and protects it from everyday hazards like cigarette burns, rings and stains left by glasses spilled cosmetics or ink and accidental nicks and scratches Miss Cabot said

To rejuvenate a scarred top Miss Cabot suggests using a cover of colorful opaque glass patterned glass colored plate glass or a mirror

Another suggestion to renew the life of a scarred desk or table top with the same pattern as that is to place a piece of wall paper with the same pattern used on the wall under a glass top

'A rippling fluid look which is very interesting can be given to the pattern in the wall paper by using a top made of patterned glass Miss Cabot said

In addition to adding years to the like of furniture the glass tops make maintenance easier doing away with the need for frequent waxing and polishing

It's easy to make a pattern of your furniture from which a glass dealer can cut a glass top Here's all there is to it

1 Place a large sheet of smooth wrapping paper over the top to be measured Hold firmly in place Crease all around the edges with flat side of a ruler

2 Cut pttern to exact size and shape

3 After cutting lay the pattern on the top to be sure it matches perfectly

All New Housing Must Be Inspected For GI Bill Loan

All new homes must be inspected by either Veterans Administration or Federal Housing Administration inspectors during construction to qualify for GI loan financing James A Davis loan guaranty officer of the Cleveland VA Regional Office said today

Davis said that with the spurt in GI loan activity during the past year the Cleveland office has received many requests from builders and veterans to appraise homes that have not been inspected during construction

"Under the GI Bill all new housing must be inspectd by government inspectors during construction to determine whether or not the houses meet VA's Minimum Property Requirements' he pointed out

The inspection requirements of the VA do not apply to residential construction which has been completed for more than a year, he said

Caledonia Man Hospitalized in Traffic Mishap

Passenger Bruised In County Crash; 4 Accidents in Marion

A Marin County man was injured in the one accident investigated early this morning by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

City police reported four accidents in Marion. All were described as minor and no injuries were reported.

Donald W. Hempstead, 23, of near Caledonia, is in "fairly good" condition at Marion General Hospital with possible chest injuries following the accident which occurred at 2:40 a.m. on Route 4, about one mile south of Marion.

He went off the road on the right side and struck a telephone pole owned by the General Telephone Co., breaking it off at the base, and damaging about 40 feet of fencing owned by Goebel Walston of near Marion.

He was taken to the hospital in a Schaffner-Denzer ambulance.

A passenger, Betty Poorman, of near Marion, sustained a bruised forehead.

Heavy damage resulted to the front end of the automobile which was northbund at the time of the accident, patrolmen said.

Driver Arrested

One of four minor, no injury traffic accidents investigated Friday by city police resulted in the arrest of a Marion man on a hit-skip driving charge.

Wendell W. Malone, 26, of 473 Lee St. was accused of leaving the scene of an accident after his car allgedly collided with another car at 10:37 p.m. The other car was owned by Donald Moore and was parked in front of his residence at 365 Lee St. Malone is to appear in Municipal Court later for a hearing on the charge.

Each of the other three collisions caused estimated damage of less than $100, police said.

Police To Enforce Alley Parking Ban

A warning to Marion motorists not to park in alleys in the downtown section was issued today by city police.

Police Chief Thomas B. Coon said that "No Parking" signs have been painted on building walls along all the alleys during the last few days.

Beginning Monday police will begin enforcing the no parking rule with the issuance of tickets to violators, Coon said.

He pointed out that reason for enforcement of the rule is to keep the alleys open for the free passage of traffic. He noted that alley parking, except for the purpose of loading or unloading merchandise, is prohibited by city ordinance.

Defendant in Hearing Represented by Carhart

Ralph E. Carhart was the attorney for Mrs. Lena Southward, who was the defendant in a Common Pleas Court suit which was heard Thursday. A jury returned a verdict in her favor.

The suit was brought by the Marion Window Insulation, Roofing and Siding, Inc., which was represented by the law firm of Moore and Myers. In Friday's edition of The Star, it was erroneously reported that Carhart represented the insulation company and that Moore and Myers represented the defendant.

STUDY PLANNED AT HOME

A study of conditions at the Marion County Home is planned by the Civic Affairs Committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. A committee for this purpose was appointed and will begin the study sometime next week after a request has been submitted to the County Commissioners for their cooperation and assistance in the study.

Galion Trouble Clinic Marks End of Second Year

Helping Hand Is Theme Of Group Organized By Two Women

MANY TIMES OVER THE COFFEE CUPS at a lunch hour, the four officers of the Galion Trouble Clinic have discussed a clinic case in an effort to give a helping hand to others faced with a problem too great to meet alone. These same officers have served for the two years that the Trouble Clinic has been in existence. It was organized Mar. 5, 1953, in Galion. Seen having lunch in the coffee shop at Galion Community Hospital, from left to right, are: Mrs. Grace Marshall, treasurer; Miss Margaret Loris, president; Mrs. Dorothy Redden, secretary; and Miss Edna Smith, vice president.

GALION — The four officers who have completed another year with the Galion Trouble Clinic have seen the clinic close its second year, more successful even than the first, and take its place in the community as an outstanding service group.

These same officers have served together during the two years the clinic has been in existence. All of the officers are women and each fills a responsible position in industry and business beside finding time for the work of the clinic. Many times over the coffee cups, during a lunch hour, when they might have spent it in a more liesurely manner, these four officers have discussed the clinic's work, believed in it, supported and fought for it with tireless efforts.

They are, Miss Margaret Loris president, who is personnel director at the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co.; Miss Edna Smith, vice president, who is secretary of the Cemco Industries, Inc., a Galion industry; Mrs. Joseph Redden, secretary of the clinic, a private secretary to one of the vice presidents at th North Electric Manufacturing Co.; and Mrs. David Marshall, treasurer, is bookkeeper at the Galion Farm Sales.

THE GALION Trouble Clinic is a unique organization in Galion, is believed to be the only group of its kind in Ohio and, perhaps, the nation. It was the dream of two of the officers, Miss Loris and Miss Smith.

"We recognized an almost universal need for a helping hand on occasions when trouble comes to people as it does to all of us," the two women explain.

"We felt that such difficulties could be greatly alleviated if there were some person, place, or agency to which they could turn when emergencies developed," they point out.

This, they emphasize, was the sole motive behind the birth of the Trouble Clinic. They wanted to help others with emotional, domestic, financial and physical needs until the emergency was over, not to become a continuing relief organization, but one which would meet every possible emergency in the best way it could be met.

These women have seen their dream become a reality. After its work was started and its worth was recognized, it was organized March 5, 1953, with four officers, five trustees and a membership of 16 representative citizens. Now it has expanded to a group of 40 to 50 of some of Galion's busiest citizens. They take time once each week to spend from one to two hours discussing the problems of those less fortunate and to see that something is done about these perplexities.

SOME TIME during each meeting, a prayer chime is sounded and there is dead silence for one minute of silent prayer. Members believe this has guided them and accounts for the success of their work. Protestant, Jew and Catholic alike, the clinic is non-sectarian, bow their heads together in this reverence.

Because the clinic's work is so diversified, it was necessary to enlist the help and interest of folks in different businesse and professions. Thus it is that the group is comprised of doctors, attorneys, industrialists, secretaries, merchants, dentists, ministers and professional people, as well as those in other vocations.

It is seldom that aid is given as the result of a person applying in his own behalf. Cases usually are reported by friends and neighbors. All cases are investigated by a qualified worker before help is given.

Two citizens donated money to purchase an automobile for the case worker, as well as to transport patients to doctors and hospitals and to take families to the clothing and furniture room which the clinic maintains. The room, all of the clothing and the furniture are donated. Even gasoline and car expenses often are donated by those who recognize the good of the clinic.

Physicians, dentists, merchants and attorneys contribute their services in many cases at reduced rates and often cancel their bills. Through the efforts of clinic members, one surgeon cancelled a bill for $1,000.

The clinic has found work for many people who have wanted only part-time work, as well as full employment for others, through its files in an office maintained in the local Chamber of Commerce headquarters. This service is free.

SELDOM IS MONEY paid to the people being helped. When a purchase is necessary, a clinic worker takes the person or families to the store to make the purchase. Rent bills are paid to the landlord and utilities and fuel bills to the city or dealer.

The Trouble Clinic is responsible for obtaining a public health nurse for Galion; it has secured a speech therapist for the community; it sponsors the Golden Age Club for citizens over 60 years of age, it acted as a clearing house for all White Christmas work by Galion groups; a little girl's badly crossed eyes were straightened by surgery because of the clinic's action in the case. The clinic has brought new hope and help where sudden death caused grief and unexpected financial stress; it has helped where families have been burned out of home, clothing and food; the clinic has contributed to the Crawford County School for Mentally Retarded and it has helped the Girl Scouts in securing a room and furnishings for it.

Finances for the clinic's work are provided by many citizens and industries who send monthly checks, as well as other contributions. There is no solicitation of funds. Other citizens donate services, like the dressmaker who offered to make alterations and mending on clothing and the man who picks up and delivers furniture. Many donations are anonymous. One gift was marked to sponsor a team for Little League baseball.

Clinic workers are inspired by their service and many seem to benefit as much as the recipients. Weekly bulletins keep them posted on the work being done and of new cases.

River

Ohio 52 at several points.

The highway patrol said the Ohio is rising two-tenths of a foot an hour at Wellsville.

As the river rises, here are anticipated levels and flood stage levels at various points:

Pittsburgh, flood stage 25 feet, crest of 28 feet expected today.

Wheeling, flood stage 36 feet, crest of 38-39 feet expected today.

Cincinnati, flood stage 52 feet, crest of 56.5 by tonight. The river was at 55.6 feet at Cincinnati early today.

Wintry weather showed no letup in northern border states.

Flood waters menaced sections of Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Small Tornado Strikes

Three young sisters and a brother, caught in a heavy hail and rain storm in Meade County, in northwestern Kentucky, drowned in a swollen creek.

A small tornado last night skipped along the Tennessee-Kentucky state line, about 40 miles north of Nashville, injuring three persons slightly. Property damage was reported extensive.

Thunderstorms rolled across the Ohio Valley and Central Appalachians. Hail pelted some areas. Farther north temperatures were below freezing and sleet or snow whipped parts of New England and New York State.

Heaviest rainfall, around two inches, was reported around Wheeling and Huntington, W. Va. The heavy fall heightened the danger of floods from the already-swollen Ohio River at Wheeling. At Pittsburgh, also hit by thundershowers, the Ohio River last night rose to 23.1 feet, a little below the 5-foot flood stage.

28-Foot Crest Expected

A crest of 28 feet was expected at Pittsburgh. Wheeling prepared for a crest of 38-39 feet, several feet above the 36-foot flood stage.

Indiana, also battered by rain and hail, also reported many streams overflowed. The Wabash River was on a rampage and 12 families were evacuated from their homes at Wabash.

The rain and hail storms in the Midwest and Ohio River areas resulted after the meeting of mild tropical air with cold air from the north.

Accident

Morrow County Coroner Frank Sweeney listed the immediate cause of death as a fractured skull. Asphyxiation was also present, the report said.

The Drown car struck a tree on the left side of the road, snapping it off at the base, and then rolled over, landing upside down, about 50 feet from the Muffley car.

The two cars were demolished and were removed by wreckers.

The accident is still under investigation.

Irving, Tex., School Row Continues

'Quit Acting Like Adults,' Student Tells Classmates

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—About half the school teachers in this boom suburban town have walked out in a fuss with the School Board—and some of the students seem pretty happy about it.

"Quit acting like adults," a student leader admonished his fellows yesterday.

Substitute teachers, mamas, papas, and big brothers have jumped in to keep buses rolling and classes going since the Monday walkout.

Students who have stayed in school during the five days of the walkout said operations were normal and smooth. Students who stayed away said things were not normal and far from smooth.

'Intolerable Situation'

The controversy reached the walkout stage when the School Board fired Supt. John L. Beard. Teachers said this climaxed "intolerable situations." Some said it involved state politics, last summer's governor's campaign when some teachers threw several precincts to the support of unsuccessful Ralph Yarborough.

They were out, they added, until the intolerable conditions were changed.

Now School Board President Charles E. Young says "all signs are optimistic and everything points to an early solution of our problems."

Young could be optimistic, some on both sides say.

The School Board said Dr. Beard, 53, was fired because he would not cooperate. It said teachers who stayed away from school were "out" just like nine principals and executives, fired for "instigating the walkout." The teachers could come back, the board added, if they individually returned and asked for reinstatement. Beard, whose contract had two years to run, has appealed his case to the state education commissioner.

'Getting Along Fine'

But the students . . .

"Things are getting along fine, just fine," said Frances Spinson, 17, a high school junior, who has not missed a class. She said she liked very much the two new teachers hired to replace two who walked out. Some students disagreed.

"I'm not learning anything," said Vera Anderson, 12, a seventh grader. So I stayed away from school today. Those mothers who took over the class rooms aren't attempting to teach anything. The lunchroom is closed and I paid 30 cents for one sandwich and a glass of milk in a temporary lunchroom. They've got policemen up there and they won't hardly let you leave the room."

Police have guarded the schools since the trouble first started—to prevent possible violence, they say.

C. C. Holden, the high school football coach, has become acting principal of the school. He said only eight persons who were not certified teachers were being used, and he thought the school operation was practically normal.

Don Shelby, 18, president of the Student Council, told the senior class to "quit acting like adults", to quit arguing or taking sides and to stay in school and act like students.

The corner drug store near the high school said business was booming. Nearly everybody was dropping by to have a cold drink and to discuss the hot situation.

Priest

nette declined to make any comment on the expulsion order.

The U.S. government has protested that the expulsion violates an agreement the 1933 Roosevelt-Litvinoff Pact signalling American recognition to Soviet Russia.

Retaliatory Move

Moscow diplomats speculated that the expulsion of Father Bissonnette—only American clergyman in Moscow—was in retaliation for the refusal of the U.S. government last week to let the Metropolitan Boris of the Russian Orthodox Church extend the visit he has been making to the United States.

The Assumptionist order in the United States which supplies the priest for Moscow, said it would apply to the Russians for permission to send the Rev. Louis F. Dion. Father Dion, now registrar at Assumption College in Worcester, Mass. previously had been chosen to replace Father Bissonnette this spring.

Last night U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Charles E. Bohlen gave a farewell party for Father Bissonnette, one of the most popular men in Moscow's Western colony. Most of the Western envoys and hundreds of other members of the diplomatic colony attended.

Later the young priest was guest at another party at American House, residence of enlisted men of U. S. military detachments here.

District Traffic Arrests

Two traffic arrests were made Friday outside Marion County by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Jack E. Markham, 21, of Mansfield was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington on a charge of crossing over the yellow line.

Lee S. Jackson, 28, of Indianapolis, Ind., was fined $15 and costs on a similar charge by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead.

But he said it was possible the commentator would be called if it should develop there was any connection between him and those who profited from the record sale of 357,000 shares of Pantepec stock.

Oils Unusually Active

McCormick testified there was unusual activity in the oil stock the week before Winchell's telecast. He said sales jumped to 170,000 shares in that week from a previous weekly average of about 20,000.

The exchange president has given the committee the names of traders and their brokers who had a part in the 170,000-share week. He also agreed to supply the names of those who took part in the rush of trading the following Monday.

Staff members said the committee also will get a transcript of Winchell's broadcast remarks about both Pantepec and Amurex oil shares.

As for the other reported instances of "tips and rumors" which may have caused market fluctuations, Fulbright gave no details but said the staff is looking into them and the committee will decide later whether to ask for names of traders and brokers.

civil defense officials and a few property owners. The area is studded with large earth cracks.

Kapoho, evacuated Monday, will be cut off once the lava streams pouring around it plunge into the sea, about a mile away.

Lava Burns Houses

The tiny village lost at least five houses Thursday midnight to the lava flow. Most homes were not damaged but, isolated by lava fields, they will be worthless.

Lava flows take months and sometimes years to cool. One property owner said "you couldn't bulldoze your way through it in 50 years."

Much of the cane acreage which provided a living for the residents was under 10 feet of smoking lava.

A few property owners worked their way back along the crackling lava flows to Kapoho yesterday morning. They said they found three dogs fast asleep on porches.

In the center of the town the only damage noted was three cracks in the main road.

Killer

ice station attendant held hostage in his car more than eight hours, Robert Durrant, was not harmed.

Durrant was robbed at gunpoint in the gas station. He later related:

"After he took the money, he looked out and saw my new car and asked if it would run. I told him it sure would. I thought he would just take the car. He did, all right—and me with it."

The youth nevertheless expressed surprise at learning what had taken place earlier.

"I didn't even know he had shot anybody before he kidnaped me," Durrant said. He didn't seem like that sort of person. He never talked much but he seemed like a real nice guy."

The day-long manhunt began when Kulinski and his companions gave chase to Gray's car as they saw it leaving the scene of a reported burglary.

They spotted the car at Frontier, three miles north of Kemmerer, but were taken by surprise when the gunman stepped from hiding.

He commanded them to drive north a short distance, stopped the car and ordered the trio to dismount. Then, without warning, Gray shot Kulinski in the stomach. Next he fired at Wagner, the bullet grazing his cheek. Maffei was struck by three bullets as he fled, and fell dead.

Kulinski staggered three miles into town to report the shootings, and other officers took up the chase. Gray abandoned his getaway car, circled around his pursuers and seized young Durrant at Evanston, 39 miles south of Kemmerer.

Buys Suit of Clothes

They drove without incident southeast to Manila, Utah, where Gray bought a suit of clothes. Finding southbound roads there blocked by snow, they returned to Green River and Gray abandoned the car and his hostage.

He ordered Durrant to "drive west and don't stop." The youth drove 22 miles to Little America, where officers found him.

The search then converged on Green River. Pete Thalas, a railroad worker, spotted the killer in the U.P. yards apparently planning to board a departing train.

Phillips and other officers then entered the running gun battle, which ended minutes later at the home where Gray was killed.

Officers said Gray, whose parents live in Beasley, S.C., served 18 months in the Wyoming Penitentiary on a forgery charge and was released in November, 1951.

School Discussion

busy for the last 16 months in making its study and formulating it recommendations.

—:—

IN OCTOBER of 1953, eleven members were appointed to the committee — four by the Senate, four by the House of Representatives and three by the Governor. This 11-member committee was charged to make an overall survey of the public school system of Ohio.

This committee then set up six study committees — instructional program, personnel and teacher education, state educational organization, local district organization, housing and transportation, and finance.

Two lay people to one educator was the ratio adopted by the committee in appointment of members to these six study committees, Rep. Manahan explained. These 100 persons were asked to get the facts first, and then find answers.

They sent out about 40,000 questionaires to representatives in all phases of the educational program in Ohio. Their recommendations, therefore, represented the thinking of a large number of people, the speaker expained.

BEFORE CONTINUING with his talk, the Representative told the group that there were two premises they should accept if they were to get any benefit from the meeting.

The first was that according to Article 6 of the Ohio Constitution, it is the responsibility of the state government to see that an efficient common school system is provided and maintained for every boy and girl in Ohio.

Elaborating on this, he said that he was not principally interested in the problems of education in Marion or Marion County, or in his home county of Defiance. Instead, his principal interests are in approaching and finding a solution for all the boys and girls in Ohio.

"If boys and girls could choose to be born where wealth is, there would be no problem," he said, emphasizing that the educational problem is a common one for the entire citizenry of Ohio.

THE SECOND premise that Rep. Manahan pointed out was that regardless of where the wealth is, it should be taxed to provide that adequate minimum education for every boy and girl.

While making their survey of the school situation in Ohio, the committee soon learned that too many people in America do not realize we are living in a changing world," Manahan told the group.

The committee found that the average citizens were looking at the costs of education in the light of 40 years ago, he pointed out not realizing that the costs of education were increasing like everything else.

On the positive side, however, Manahan told the group that the committee found that we had a pretty good education system in Ohio and that most teachers were teaching subjects they should."

BUT THE committee also saw, from the tabulation of the questionnaires, that there was a weakness in the teaching of basic subjects.

Illustrating this point, Rep. Manahan related to the group the answer one executive of an Ohio concern hiring many high school graduates gave. This executive described the graduates as mighty fine youngsters, but they lack knowledge of the basic fundamentals they should know."

Favoring local control of school matters, Rep. Manahan expressed his viewpoint that "each school should get together the people of the community and the administrators and work out their objectives."

"It is a shared responsibility—state and local—for a good school program," he said, "but leave the control on the local level." He said he is opposed to the federal government having "anything to do with the schools."

Referring to the quality of schools, the legislator, himself a former school superintendent, said that they "are as good as the people will pay for and as bad as they will tolerate."

Touching upon the teacher shortage, the speaker said that by 1960, Ohio will have a shortage of 15,000 teachers. In regard to this, he said that he believes in teachers having adequate preparation for teaching, but he believes that the two-year cadet teacher scholarship program instituted by the Legislature two years ago is a good thing in helping meet this shortage.

IN THE questionnaires sent out to former teachers, Rep. Manahan said that 50 per cent of the answers given to the question of why they left the profession listed the low salaries paid. Another frequently given answer was that they couldn't "take it from the parents and youngsters any more."

If Ohio is to get and keep the kind of teachers that are desirable, "we will have to pay teachers a salary adequate for living today," Rep. Manahan said. He also would like to see the outstanding classroom teachers be paid on the same basis as industry rewards the better employes —on merit.

To set up the type of education as recommended in Ohio would take an additional $36 million dollars, Rep. Manahan explained.

During the question and answer period, one question was raised as to where this money would come from. The speaker said that Ohio ranks eighth among the states in wealth, and 35th in amount of aid to the schools.

IN ANSWERING the question as to the method of financing the cost, Rep. Manahan said that real estate and property taxes cannot assume all of the responsibility of taxation. He said that there is a large group of Ohio earners not reached by real estate taxes which "has to be reached some way."

Answering a question on proposed consolidation problems, Rep. Manahan suggested creating Citizens Committees, as provided by the Legislature, in working out problems on local levels.

Some areas have accomplished "miracles" through the use of citizens committees, he said.

To a question of how the state could keep politics from an elected state board of education, as recommended by the committee, the Representative replied that a group of men and women elected by the people on a non-partisan basis and responsible to the people is the best method he knows. Only one group, the League of Women Voters of Ohio, is actively opposed to an elected board, he said.

Bills for every one of the 28 major recommendations of the survey committee are now facing the Legislature.

"We will put up the best fight we can" to see that these recommendations are passed by the Legislature, Rep. Manahan assured the group.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY

A Marion woman, charged with disorderly conduct, was found guilty in Municipal Court Thursday and fined $50 and costs, both of which were suspended on condition of her future good behavior. She was Anna Raeburn of 424 S. Prospect St. She had previously pleaded not guilty to the charge.

TO SPEAK AT PLEASANT

John Parsons of the Ohio State Experiment Station at Wooster will be speaker at a meeting of the Pleasant Farm Adult Group at the Pleasant school Monday at 8 p.m. Subject of his talk will be "How to Get the Most out of Your Fertilizer Dollar."

Civil Defense Plans for Attack In Area Mapped for Marion

Operational instructions for pre-attack dispersal and evacuation planning under the reorganized Ohio Civil Defense set-up were received today by Capt. Clyde Hardin, Marion County civil defense director.

The instructions were sent out by Thane M. Durey, deputy director of the state CD organization.

Capt. Hardin said that the instructions will be studied and used to guide planning for CD activities in Marion County. He noted that Marion County is not included in a critical target area.

In his instructions, Durey pointed out that counties, such as Marion, which are not in target areas should organize and be prepared to function directly under state supervision.

He added that such counties "will constitute that vital support so necessary to the more critical and populous areas."

"These counties and their organizations are the most important elements in the Civil Defense establishment which make it possible to cope with the increased capabilities of the latest thermonuclear weapons," Durey said.

Under the reorganization plans, which were first announced Thursday, Marion County is in Area 5 of the CD organization. The nearest critical target area is Columbus. In event of attack, residents of Columbus and a 20-mile area around the city will be evacuated in a generally north and south direction.

To aid in this evacuation, persons in a radius between 20 and 40 miles from the city will also be asked to move out further away from the city.

This would mean that civil defense traffic into Marion would likely be very heavy and because of this advance planning is necessary, according to the instructions from Durey.

Capt. Hardin said that much remains to be done before any definite plans may be developed regarding Marion County's role in the civil defense organization. Planning will be carried out as quickly as possible, he said.

armed forces to enable them to contribute as much as possible to the defense of Formosa if the Reds attack.

Admiral Carney said the Nationalist - American military talks here had identified the problems involved in combined action, if necessary, in defense of the area.

The admiral said the primary purpose of his visit was to discuss the problems that would arise in case of action implementing the mutual defense treaty, which provides for American defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

He had discussed these problems with Stump, Pride, Chase and the nationalist defense ministry.

They had also discussed deliveries of material, various other aspects of the aid program "and the realities of the situation in the Formosa area."

A Marion woman, accidentally shot through the left shoulder Friday noon, is reported in "good" condition at Marion General Hospital today.

Mrs. Robert Barr of 813 Bellefontaine Ave. was accidentally shot in her home at about 12:13 p.m. She told investigating police that the accident occured when she picked up a .22 caliber rifle to stand it in a corner of a closet.

As she was starting to place the rifle upright in the corner, it discharged and the bullet passed through her shoulder, she said. The gun fell down on the floor of the closet when she went to get her vacuum sweeper from the closet, she said.

Police found the bullet lodged in the bottom of a wooden shelf in the closet. Mrs. Barr was rushed to the hospital in a Hughes ambulance and was given emergency treatment, then admitted for observation and further treatment of the wound.

Statesman

By George Sokolsky

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but hard the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc , etc , on the installment plan If you don't have money, buy anyhow Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that democracy?

SOKOLSKY

So with such a start I asked Sam, "Is business good?"

"Why should it not be good ' Sam asked, always starting an argument "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, businesses will be good As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy They got the money '

"Sam you've become a statesman ' I said

"Who isn't?" Sam asked 'Nowadays everybody is a statesman Also he knows about India nad Pakistan, Iran and Iraq, Matsu and Quemoy, also who got bumped off in Moscow But nobody tells him why Everybody knows so much these days, that there ain't no use telling him anything

'So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don t worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'

"SO I TELL THE customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news "

"Tell me Sam " I asked "does the customer ever ask you what makes' an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied "Would a guy be hired by CBS and NBC and the State Department and General Motors if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also is it good business to spoil the customer s appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsiklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be Secretary of State

"So I say if you buy a television set from me you can see the great commentator Hotsiklotz ever night from Monday to Friday, same time same station, just before you want to go to sleep His voice is like a phenobarbital So clear, so beautiful so beautiful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsiklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon Sign here and the credit company will do the rest

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes black angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington.

"LET THE customer be a statesman, too Why not? What harm can it do? So when she talks about Pakistan, it sounds like she is talking about Minnesota Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?

"As long as customers buy, we all live Is it worse than in the depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you '

"I'll be seeing you, Sam, "I said to close the conversation

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price but don't tell nobody I'll give you the relative's price "

"I'll see you soon Sam " I said as I plowed into a stuffed derma

Red Immunity

By Victor Riesel

While thousands of Internal Revenue Bureau agents are poring over the books of little businessmen, there has not been, nor are there plans for any national probe of Communist front organizations which have collected millions of unaccounted-for dollars in the past few years

VICTOR RIESEL

Nor has there been any probe of Communist-controlled unions which have been filing false financial reports with various government agencies Millions of dollars in dues from the membership of these Soviteering unions have been used for propaganda and lobbying in behalf of Communist causes

Yet Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, head of the Internal Revenue Service, informed Sen Alexander Wiley on Feb 1 that the income tax division is probing only one major Communist front organization

THIS INFORMATION was sent to the Wisconsin Senator in letter replying to one dispatched by the solon on Dec. 29 to Andrews Wiley had written

"I am writing to you with regard to a very important phase of the anti-Communist effort I refer to the checking of tax returns of the great number of key individuals, organizations and businesses within the Communist orbit in the U S.

"As you know, the Reds have hatched all sorts of enterprises — companies and fronts, have repeatedly transferred funds back and forth between them, and have otherwise juggled their books according to strong evidence given to the FBI . .

"It seems to me that we could sever the financial arteries of the Communist party if a special effort were made to investigate the books of at least the major Red groups In so doing we could probably interfere with Red espionage in this country, which is dependent on disguised expenditures While they have probably covered their tracks carefully an all-out probe would no doubt prove fruitful . .

"I strongly believe that they have broken tax laws in handling the books of their fronts and of their key functionaries "

The income tax agency would have jurisdiction over these pro-Soviet fronts. Many of them are on the attorney general's subversive list Thus they automatically lose any tax-free status they and their sympathetic donors had as "charitable" or alleged civil libertarian organizations

They then become subject to investigation

NOT ONLY WOULD such a probe expose the remaining internal conspiracy, but it would strike an effective blow for the crusading civil liberties organizations with which the subversive network is confused by the public The people in their open-pocketbook goodness have donated over 3½ million dollars to just three of the camouflaged Communist fronts in the past decades — and a New York legislative committee has just heard testimony that the leaders of such groups can t account for a large proportion of the money

Sen. Wiley does not for a moment impugn the Internal Revenue Service or its chief Wiley is aware that a probe such as he suggests "would be a very considerable undertaking and that it would require a great deal of personnel "

Andrews has also informed Wiley that a dragnet squad of special agents is tied up in the fight on racketeers, including monsters who have worked themselves inside labor — especially on the waterfront

The income bureau commissioner told Wiley on Jan 28 that

'A squad of agents has been engaged in cracking down on the New York-New Jersey waterfront mobsters since early 1952 To date, almost 300 individuals have been the subject of investigation Convictions have already been secured in approximately 45 cases. Others are still under investigation and these involve at least two notorious waterfront figures "

UNDOUBTEDLY, as a result of such probing there is a shortage of manpower Wiley is not satisfied that this precludes any investigation of the major Russian fronts in the U S

"I intend to follow up because I canont say as yet that he (T Coleman Andrews) has given me the sort of complete assurances of an all-out effort such as I seek

"I do not believe that the Internal Revenue Service can sit back and wait for evidence to show up . . Unless you assign crack squads of agents to this task and for a long period of time . . then the full story of the Red financial network will not come out "

Well said, senator.

American Market for European Titles Slow, Baroness Discovers

CHICAGO (AP) — The American market for European titles seems to be slow these days.

Take the case of Lina von Lamezan, who has offered to sell the title of baroness.

She ran a series of notices, the first one nine days ago, in the personal column of a newspaper

There has been no sale thus far But she has received an armload of letters, a copy of a religious poem, a bouquet and a song dedicated to her and entitled "The Baroness Waltz "

Mrs Von Lamezan, a childless widow is 81 and lives in a time-weathered stove heated cottage on Chicago's northwest side

She told a newsman yesterday that most of the letter writers were people who had some interest but only modest means

"Some look good," she said "I'll have to write to them "

Mrs Von Lamezan explains that she does not have a simple sale in mind In return for an unspecified sum of money she says, she will adopt a suitable person who wants to share the title now and inherit it after her death

She also says she came by the title through marriage in 1926 in Chicago to Baron Franz von Lamezan, who died about five years ago at his family's home in Freiburg, Germany.

One of the letters was from a 10-year-old girl who likes to read fairy tales. She wanted to be a princess

The flowers—yellow jonquils—were brought by a Chicago woman

'She was from the old country,' Mrs Von Lamezan said, "and just wanted to talk "

The waltz, written in ink on lined musical composition paper, was sent in the mail by a Chicago woman.

55 Heirs To Share $10,756 Estate Left By Bucyrus Native

BUCYRUS — Fifth-five heirs will share in the $10,726 estate left by Amery Stuart, who died here last June leaving no will, Crawford County Probate Judge Constance R. Keller announced here today *

A search for heirs by Roy Widman, Bucyrus banker and administrator of the estate, proved futile after which a proceeding to determine unknown heirs was filed in probate court

Ossie K Ramey a Columbus genealogist, was hired by several parties to substantiate their claims to share in the estate

After studying the genealogical records brought into the court by Ramey and other data submitted by interested parties Judge Keller ruled that one-half of the estate should go to 42 living relatives on the side of the paternal grandparents while the remainder will go to 13 living relatives on the side of the maternal grandparents

The largest single allocation will be 1-16th of the total estate while the smallest share will be 5-1980th of half of the estate None of the beneficiaries live in Crawford or surrounding counties

Stuart, who was 68 when he died was born near Bucyrus For many years he worked as a chauffeur and caretaker for the George Donnenwirth and J J. Bliss families and later was employed at the Carey plant of the Swan Rubber Co.

Hickman Hits for 35 Points To Spark Indians' Scoring

By GARY SAMS

LaRue's Indians passed their first Central District Class B Tournament test by pulling away in the second half to whip Scioto s Pickaway County entry 74-65 Friday night at Capital

The win advanced Coach Ted Dennison s squad which ran its season record to 18 3 all the way to the tourney semi finals LaRue will meet the winner of tonight s Newark St Francis Chesterville tussle in its next start Thursday night

Larry Hickman LaRue s 5-11 forward paced his team to the opening round victory by dropping in 35 points a district tournament high this year Most of the red-headed scoring ace s 15 baskets came after he broke loose for lay ups

His 20 points in the second half along with 11 by Center Bill Guthery and nine by Ray Hosey Hickman s running mate at forward gave LaRue the needed punch to topple Scioto

LARUE S MARION County tournament runner up squad was hard pressed through the opening period before taking the lead for good in the second stanza

The lead changed hands 10 times before Keith Cooper dropped in a bucket from the keyhole to boost LaRue ahead 13 12 at the close of the opening period He and Hickman who outscored him by one with s ven accounted for all of the Indians first quarter scoring

LaRue jumped into an early 17 12 margin in the second frame but the losers came back to knot the score at 18-18 and 20-20 A lay up by Hickman regained the lead for his squad and the losers Pickaway County tournament runners up were never able to catch up

At intermission the winners were on top 30-26 after Scioto twice during the period climbed to within two points of the victors Both squads traded baskets in the early moments of the third stanza before a tip by Guthery and lay up by Hickman shoved LaRue in front 38-32 A rebound shot by Guthery and long shots by Hosey and Hickman gave LaRue a 44 34 bulge but the Indians were unable to stretch it further in the period and went into the final session with a 48-42 lead

LARUE SEALED the win early in the fourth stanza when it pumped into a comfortable 62 48 margin Closest the Scioto team could creep up on the taller Indians during the remainder of the tilt was the final nine point margin

During the final eight minutes LaRue hit on 10 of 12 attempts from the free throw line The Indians connected on 18 of 25 trys for the full game

Trailing Hickman in the scoring column for LaRue was Guthery with 12 points and Hosey with 11 Pete Martin dumped in 22 markers for the losers 10 of them in the final period Center Charles Kerchiner came in with 19

Money, Wisdom Needed

Boudreau Sees Shiny Future Ahead of Kansas City Squad

By LOU BOUDREAU
Kansas City Manager

PALM BEACH Fla (AP)—I have no illusions about my job as a manager of the Kansas City Athletics Even a confirmed optimist couldn t say that we have anything approaching a strong club We re hurt in several departments especially down the middle

But there are some bright spots here and there and it s possible that we can make a few improvements It s going to take time some money and some wisdom to transfer the Athletics into a winner But I m happy I was given the chance to accept this challenge Mr Arnold Johnson who worked so hard to purchase the Athletics refused to quit when things looked darkest and I m convinced he won t rest until he has a winner

Killed Interest

In a way we re starting from scratch We have several pretty good veterans on the roster I have been in the same league with them and I know that several of them have better than average ability

In fact it looked as if the Athletics might make some trouble for the other clubs at the start of the last season But then Bobby Shantz hurt his arm again a number of other things combined to kill interest and I suppose that for the last part of the season the players were just going through the motions

I look for a change of scenery to have some effect Of course it takes more than just a change of scenery to produce a winner but I m banking on Shantz and Alex Kellner our other starting southpaw to overcome their arm injuries Let these two recover and at least half of our pitching problems will be solved

Pretty Good Pitchers

We have some pretty good pitchers in Arnie Portocarrero Marion Fricano Bob Trice Charlie Bishop Johnny Gray Ed Burtschy and Sonny Dixon Also we ve got about 10 youngsters up from the minors and some of them had good records there

Some of our veterans figure to improve next season Don Bollweg was hitting the ball real well toward the end of the season Jim Finigan was great all year and may develop into one of the game s standouts next season Spook Jacobs figures on definite improvement because of some winter surgery and Gus Zernial should be his old self fully recovered from his broken shoulder I also look for Vic Power and Bill Renna to do better

We have had good reports on such newcomers as Hal Bevan who looked like a good infield prospect with the As three years ago before he suffered a broken leg Hector Lopez who batted well over 300 at Ottawa and did a good defensive job at shortstop and third base and Joe Taylor who came up last September after a fine year at Ottawa where he proved to be one of the top sluggers in the International League

And in all the squad is not as bad as some have made it out to be It s not a potential pennant winner by any means but with some help some breaks and some improvement it could give the other teams a lot of trouble

Wynn Visits Camp

Mitchell and Philley Fight For Spot in Tribe's Lineup

TUCSON Ariz (AP)—Only a dozen American Leaguers have a lifetime total of more than 1 200 base hits and two of them—Dale Mitchell and Dave Philley are fighting for a spot in the Cleveland Indians lineup this season

The odds are against either making the grade as regulars—Mitchell with his 1 218 hits and lifetime 315 average or Philley with his 1 202 hits and 268 lifetime average Both came up to the majors to stay in 1946—Mitchell with the Indians and Philley with the Chicago White Sox

Mitchell who wants to finish his major league career with the Tribe has been working at first base and will play there today in the first intrasquad game Philley who hit only 226 last season is due in camp this weekend to try to reach salary terms with General Manager Hank Greenberg

Ironically the same man who crowded Mitchell from the Tribe outfield last season may put Philley on the bench this year That s Al Smith the speedy outfielder who took Mitchell s left field spot and was a big factor in the Indians pennant drive

Smith currently is slated for right field this year displacing Philley while home run slugger Ralph Kiner acquired last winter from the Chicago Cubs, moves into the left field position

For Mitchell who wants to finish his major league career with Cleveland a demonstration he can make good at first base would give him a greater chance to see relief action than he would get as a spare outfielder In the latter role as was the case last season he would be almost solely a pinchhitter

As a capable first baseman he could spell Vic Wertz and he has the advantage of being a left handed thrower Mitch can handle the infield throws he s shown in practice but as an outfielder he was handicapped by a weak arm

If Philley gets his contract signed this week end there will be only four Indian holdouts left Relief pitcher Bill Wight, 32 year-old southpaw agreed to terms in a phone call and is due here today

Early Wynn Bob Avila and Wally Westlake are the other holdouts Wynn put in a surprise appearance yesterday and talked with Greenberg He said he offered Hank a fair proposition and reporters guessed he was seeking about $43 000

2 INDICTED FOR MURDER

CINCINNATI (AP)—Albert F Bowen 32 and Elmer C (Frenchy) Davis 34 both of Newport Ky were indicted yesterday for the second degree murder of Earl Gieger 33 Geiger an off duty Covington Ky policeman was shot to death in a Cincinnati alley Feb 3

Although stands of dogwood are classed as splashes of beauty by many nature lovers the trees are regarded as a pest by forestry experts

Redleg Rookies Given Chance At Steady Jobs

TAMPA Fla (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today play their first intrasquad game of the spring

Rud, Minarcin rookie righthander and Fred Baczewski veteran southpaw will share the mound duties for coach Tom Ferrick s team

Maurice Fisher and Pat Scantlebury a pair of righthanders, attempting to toss themselves into the big league will pitch for coach Dick Bartell

Manager Birdie Tebbetts is giving much attention these days to his staff of 22 pitchers He is impressed thus far with Cliff Ross, who pitched for Schenectady last season He won 13 and lost 10 for the last place Eastern League team

Tebbetts said Ross was "wicked on the mound

He could very easily be the answer to my nightly prayers for another strong armed lefthander to go along with Joe Nuxhall," he commented

Bucks, Wolves In Lively Fight For Swim Title

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Ohio State was hanging on to the Western Conference swimming championship by its fingernails today at the halfway mark in the 45th annual meet

Michigan s Wolverines with four victories in the first seven events—including a world record shattering performance — were only a point behind 57 to 58 as the natators went into today s final seven tests

No one else was close as the two goliaths battled it out Iowa had 20 points Michigan State 17 Purdue 11 Indiana 6 Wisconsin 4 and Illinois 3 with Minnesota and Northwestern shut out

Jack Wardrop one of the Wolverine twins from Mollettsville Scotland and Jim Walters of Kenilworth Ill came up with last nights startling performances

Wardrop wheeled through the 220 yard freestyle in 2 03 4 to shear 1 3 seconds off the world record set a year ago by Ford Konno Ohio State s Hawaiian star as Konno finished second in 2 05 or 1 03 seconds under his Big Ten record

Walters showing superb form piled up 522 25 points to win the 1 meter diving event as Morley Shapiro Ohio s defending champion finished third behind teammate Fletcher Gilders

Refuses Prediction

Giants To Be Strong, Durocher Insists

By LEO DUROCHER
New York Giants Manager

PHOENIX Ariz (AP)—I have never in all my years of managing, predicted a finish for my club, so I won't start now I'll say this though I believe we will have a stronger team in 55 than the one that won the pennant last year

That means that the other clubs will have to improve if they want to catch us I realize we haven't made any deals but some of the fellows like Monte Irvin Davey Williams and one or two pitchers should have better seasons As I expect more from fellows like Don Liddle Paul Giel and I look for one or two rookies to come through for us

Lots of Work

I expect to give Giel the former All-America football player from Minnesota lots of work I think he can become a winning pitcher for us I know a lot more about Liddle now Enough to believe he can take a regular turn for us and win a lot more games than he did last year I won't hesitate to start him against anybody

Pitching of course may turn out to be our biggest problem I intend to give that most of my attention during spring training I'm pretty well satisfied that the rest of the club is capable of defending the championship in our league But we've got to work on our pitching right down the line We've got to find out who's going to get those odd starting jobs in back of the Big Four — Johnny Antonelli Sal Maglie Ruben Gomez and Don Liddle I'd also like to get one more reliever to help Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom

Same Team

I hope to open the 1955 season with the same team that finished the World Series I think Willie Mays is the greatest player in the game today with a chance to become the greatest of all time I'll be satisfied if Willie can finish with around 325 next season but I won't be surprised if he does as well or even better than last year's 345

Monte Irvin will open in left Monte had an off year in 54 and I believe he will come back as good as ever I have talked with him several times and he assured me his ankle is better than it was last year and that he will be able to play regularly

Another Look

I'm anxious to get another look at Bob Lennon who socked 64 homers at Nashville last year Also I want to see some more of Eric Rodin, another young outfielder and Foster Castleman a fine looking young infielder The kid looked great last spring but he's had trouble with his knees He had an operation this winter and I'd like to see how he knee holds up

I think the league will be stronger this year The Cards and Reds appear to have strengthened themselves I know Milwaukee and Brooklyn will be strong and Philadelphia has added pitching strength Brooklyn is always tough especially with Campanella and Newcombe so nd The Braves however, might make the most trouble especially if they can avoid injuries such as those that laid Bobby Thomson and Hank Aaron low last year

We All Owe A Lot To The Oil People
Few of us realize the great improvements that have been made in the refining of our crude oil in to gasoline and the various lubricants we use Since 1940, miracles have been performed but one thing the big oil folks have not done and that's encourage every car owner to have a monthly check-up of his car This idea we believe should be advertised by every oil company in America

On the House

Planning Home Depends On Family's Way of Life

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

What's the matter with most plans for new houses? Follow people around as they inspect a builder's house and listen to their comments. Talk to others who have lived in similar houses long enough for the first thrill to wear off. You'll find out:

1. The rooms are too small.

2. The plan has no relation to the way the family wants to live.

"I think the public is very confused about what they want in a house and what they like," observed a member of a recent round table conference staged by House and Home," trade publication.

"THEY KNOW SO little about what they want you'd almost imagine they'd been living in trees. One of our biggest jobs is to help them know what to look for."

It may be hard for you to believe that, especially if you can't find a house with a kitchen big enough to prepare a family reunion dinner, or with a living room big enough to seat more than five or six persons.

"Space is the biggest luxury," an eminent architect told that conference. He added that contemporary design — open planning, with partitions reserved mainly for the privacy of sleeping quarters—is the most efficient and economical way to provide space.

"Women don't realize," a big builder responded, "how much easier and pleasanter it is to get the meals in an open kitchen and how much nicer it is not to be shut away from the family in a closed kitchen."

MAYBE YOU'LL agree, if the builder provides ventilation powerful enough to keep the fumes of boiling turnips from settling on the piano.

"The kitchen has to be opened up and be an intelligent and attractive part of the house," the architect said. "We have not only gotten away from having maids, we've gotten to the point where we've stopped pretending we've got a maid."

Othr pleasantries culled from the House and Home report of that conference tie is very significantly with problems we all encounter in trying to find a house plan that fits our family living needs. For instance:

"When TV first came out, many designers asked: 'Should we have a room for TV?' That hasn't been settled, but we have definitely concluded we need a room to get away from TV."

The speaker, John Highland of the American Institute of Architects, thereupon decided that "Any home that doesn't have a family room as well as a living room is incomplete and thereby obsolete."

"THE FAMILY ROOM," he explained, "should have a slate floor or a vinyl or tile floor, or something like that, so if the youngsters drop anything on it, it won't stain, and when we are entertaining, the floor should be Martini-proof so we don't have to run around behind the guests with little coasters all the time."

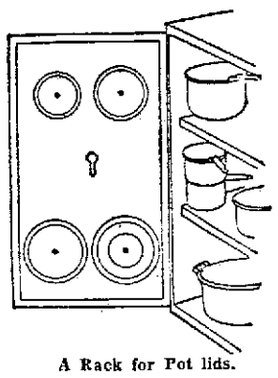
You may wonder what is to become of the living room or 'company room," as it seems to be. Not many years ago, it was predicted that the dining room was on its way out—that it cost too much to build for the amount of time it was used. Then dining rooms staged a comeback.

If the living room now goes the way of great-grandmother's front parlor, maybe we'll just revive the old-fashioned "sitting room" with some comfortable rockers.

It all depends on how you want to live.

RESISTS STAIN

For all practical purposes, the glass-like surface of finished vitreous shina plumbing fixtures may be said to be virtually acid-proof, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. The ability to resist staining makes it easy for the homemaker to keep vitreous china fixtures as clean looking and bright as the day they were installed.



A Rack for Pot lids.

Handy Pan Cover Rack Can Be Set On Door of Cabinet

Storage of round-knobbed lids for kitchen utensils can be simplified by putting a false back on a cabinet door and cutting keyholes in the panel to accommodate and hold the knobs.

Hardboard of the ⅛ - inch tempered pressed wood type is easy to cut for this panel. If the door itself is paneled there may be enough space for the knobs. Otherwise the inner panel is mounted on a frame.

The keyholes can be formed by boring holes ¼ - inch larger than the knobs and cutting slots with a key hole saw to hold the neck of the knob.

Steel Wool Is Help In Removing Finish

There are several good tricks to know when you're removing an old finish on a curved surface or on ornamental carved sections.

First of all, of course, you apply paint and varnish remover to a small area and allow sufficient time for the old coating to soften. On flat surfaces, a broad-bladed putty knife will then serve as a satisfactory scraper. A wire brush can also be most helpful.

Steel wool is a great aid on curved surfaces. Sometimes, it's a good idea to attach a length of steel wool to the gummy side of wide adhesive tape, then pull the wool back and forth over the curving surface.

When you come to carvings, remember that steel wool on a lollipop stick or a meat skewer can help. Steel wool entwined with a piece of strong cord can be most helpful on spindles, too.

After you've taken off the old coating entirely, be sure to remove all traces of the remover by rubbing the surface with medium-fine steel wool, moistened with mineral spirits. Allow the surface to dry overnight before refinishing.

Consider Color Scheme When Decorating Room

When you're planning to repaint a room and are considering various color schemes remember that every scheme needs the contrast of "something dull, something bright, something dark and something light."

First, pick the colors for your walls and floor coverings because they're the biggest areas of color. Floor coverings are often the dull or dark color. Walls may be painted dark or light. Colors for your draperies, upholstey and slip covers can be dull, dark, or light. Finally, choose one bright color for accents.

Stick to three colors in your floor covering, walls, furniture and draperies. Add dashes of a single bright color. Don't be afraid to repeat the same colors over and over. Repetition ties your room together.

BEST FINISH BEST

Attractive finishes play a predominant role in creating the sales appeal of a fine piece of furniture. Actually, the finest type of furniture finish represents only a very small per cent of its total cost. Consequently, it is wisdom to make sure that the furniture you buy is expertly finished with the best quality materials. The best costs little — the mediocre may cost you the price of the furniture itself.

Room Dividers in Favor

A new type of furniture piece —the room divider—has earned a solid place alongside standard chairs, beds, tables and cabinets.

Intended for use in the flexible rearranging of large rooms in modern open-plan homes, the typical room divider exhibted at the winter shows has cabinets one-third or half-way up and the remainder in shelves. The shelves are accessible from both sides and shelf heights often can be adjusted in uniform or staggered arrangements.

In some cases the shelved portion merely rests on a cabinet base, thereby permitted greater flexibility in rearranging rooms.

The same wide variety of hardwood plywood species used in standard wood furniture is available in the room dividers, with emphasis on the darker woods such as mahogany and walnut in natural finishes.

PLYWOOD DEFINED

The U. S. Department of Commerce defines hardwood plywood as "wood engineered for beauty, strength and economical application." Because plywood is made of thin layers of wood bonded together at right angles to one another, builders refer to it as "engineered wood" and lumberman call it "wood alloy" meaning that it is an improvement on the raw natural log.

New Furniture Stars Hues of Rainbow

Casual and Light Pieces Designed for Small Homes of Today

Today's furniture is colorful, casual and airy. It is ideal for the small home, often can be utilized in several rooms and is equipped with hard-to-hurt surfaces.

Color was stressed at the International Home Furnishings Market held recently in Chicago at the Merchandise Mart and American Furniture Marts. Woods took on new hues.

"THE CONTEMPORARY trend is not so new now," says Edward Wormley, furniture designer. "There's continued interest in free designs, with better quality and a kind of elegance that doesn't shout."

New Wormley creations include a Bristol blue upholstered occasional dining chair with laminated ash frame. A love seat on a mahogany frame is upholstered in aqua textured fabric filled with silver threads. It has a deepened channel where seat and back meet to give it a new look.

Colors in upholstery fabrics have drifted away from bright reds and yellow greens. They are quiet with deep blues and blue-greens. Color refinement also is in woods. Dining room furniture may be finished in charcoal. Bedroom pieces are tinted in light jade green and misty pink colors. Mahogany woods are finished in two-tone effects.

UPHOLSTERED, WOOD, and metal pieces are used as room dividers. Far Eastern rattan is freely used on cabinet doors and chairs. Leather reflects a simple elegance.

Designer John Wisner emphasized this with a room divider utilizing natural walnut, rattan, pigskin, plastic panels and brass. A rattan frame supports a china cabinet of walnut. Pigskin leather tile is used to decorate sliding doors for the lower credenza. Raffia strands are embedded in plastic sheets used as sliding doors for the upper china cabinet.

Paul McCobb scaled down a hi-fi unit of walnut-finished mahogany to the small home or apartment.

—:—

HE DESIGNED a bookcase - China unit with solid brass frame and mahogany woodwork in sandrift tone.

George Nelson created a full-sized armchair scaled to look small. It is upholstered in a soft green fabric, has wide arm rests and spindle-type legs of satin chrome to give it a light appearance.

Harold M. Schwartz gives a bedroom group a delicate look with an off-white edged headboard framing a pink upholstered insert panel. Contrasting night stands are of natural finish oak. Sliding tambour doors enable easy storage. Matching pink - upholstered oak benches fit under the night stands.

G. McStay Jackson's modernized captain's chair in ebony and maple has a seat on an elevated platform which rests on four springs to enable the sitter to rock.

Indoor lighting has received attention by the National Home Lamp Council. Its group of 22 members displayed a bowl - like prismatic diffuser designed to provide up to 100 per cent more illumination than conventional lamps.

IT'S GOT EVERYTHING. Walnut and rattan room divider utilizing pigskin, plastic and brass. By John Wisner.

Mr. and Mrs. Cedric D. Draper have sold their home at 373 Commercial St. to Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Cryder. This is a three-bedroom home with a bath and a half, and has a new modern kitchen. It is in the $7,000 price range. Paul D. Hoch of Hoch Real Estate Agency handled the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Vance recently sold to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koch a 77-acre tract of land in Big Island Township. The farm features a six-room home with bath and a full basement, a large barn and other outbuildings. It was in the $13,000 price range, and the sale was handled by the Davis, Speese and Granger Realty Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Walters recently sold their property in the Lusch addition to Mr. and Mrs. Durwerd Giles. The home is a five-room ranch-type bungalow with a large kitchen and living room, three bedrooms, breezeway, and attached garage. The home, situated on a 120 by 200 ft. lot, was in the $15,000 price range. The transaction was handled by Davis, Speese and Granger Realty Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Carpenter recently purchased a duplex at 206 Wallace St. from Mr. and Mrs. Forest T. Disbennet of Delaware. There are four rooms upstairs and three downstairs, and the home was in the $5,000 price range. Handling the transaction was the Davis, Speese and Granger Realty Co.

NEED REPLACEMENT

Plumbing fixtures are not a once-in-a-lifetime investment, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out. While a modern plumbing fixture is extremely sturdy and will last almost indefinitely with proper care, it will gradually become outdated as styles change and as more scientific advances are made in the designing and production of fixtures. The fixtures are probably the most inexpensive portion of your bathroom, certainly the most useful, and so should be changed as often as necessary to keep the room attractive and modern in appearance.

Remodeling Opportunity

Remodeling gives you a wonderful opportunity to increase the efficiency of your bathroom, points out the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. If you live in an older home and suffer from a bathroom shortage, plan your modernization so that your bathroom will be able to handle peak demands.

For example, installation of twin countertop lavatories will help alleviate waiting in line during the morning and evening rush hours. And, if your bathroom is larger than average, you could add needed fixtures and "compartmentize" it by installing walls or partitions between them.

Compartmentizing would permit several family members to use the facilities at the same time with ample privacy for each.

First Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: We recently purchased an old house and find the kitchen wall covered with a felt base, lacquer surfaced wall covering. It is only half way up the wall. I understand it was put on with a linoleum paste. Can this be removed and, if so, how can it be done without pulling off the plaster?

A: The wall covering can only be ripped off. Once the edge is town down, the paste might be softened with hot water to make it easier for removal. In cases where plaster may come off, you could patch it readily with patching plaster. To remove the remaining linoleum paste, scrub the walls with a solution of washing soda, using about a cupful in each pail of hot water. Rinse well with clear water, then allow to dry thoroughly.

Q: Three years ago, my wood floors were scraped and the contractor, who did the work, would not use anything else but wax on the floors. I now want to remove the old wax which has darkened and would like to rewax the floors. I have tried several wax removers with no help. Would you advise finishing wood floors with wax alone? I would also like to know if there is a white paste wax?

A: Before putting down wax on a wood floor, it is always best to seal the fibers with a very thin coat of pure fresh white shellac. It is generally thinned half and half with denatured alcohol. You might try cleaning the floor with turpentine and steel wool. For a complete removal of wax that has penetrated into the wood fibers, scraping will be necessary. I do not know of any white paste floor wax.

Q: The hearth of our fireplace is of sandstone. It is up high and I would like to use it as a seat after polishing it. How can we accomplish this?

A: Sandstone cannot be polished like marble or granite. If you do obtain a polish by waxing the stone, I am afraid you will spoil its beauty, because it will be necessary to seal the surface with a coat of pure fresh white shellac thinned half and half with denatured alcohol, then a couple of coats of paste wax will have to be applied. I assume the surface of the stone at present is smooth.

MOISTURE WARNINGS

How can you rescue your house from the attacks of outside moisture? By making sure that your enemy is unable to gain access at your home's most vulnerable spots. Check especially such danger spots as the framework of windows and doors, the bases of porch pillars, under - eave areas and downspouts. If there are signs of peeling paint, it's a warning signal. Moisture has launched an invasion! To prevent further damage, trace the source of the moisture. Then make sure the necessary repair work is done and apply a new protective coat of paint.

Ceiling Lights Attractive, Save Space

Finnish Designer Asserts Suspended Fixtures Dramatize Room

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There is nothing wrong with American lighting that ceiling fixtures couldn't cure. So says Paavo Tynell of Finland, one of the world's leading designers of lighting fixtures. He explains:

"Americans dramatize their living rooms beautifully with light but table lamps make the scene monotonous. They are practical for certain working areas but why clutter up tables with lamps and cords when the ceiling might be utilized."

MANY AMERICANS use ceiling fixtures, says Tynell, but their concept of them restricts them to all-over lighting from the center of the room.

"Why not use ceiling light for local areas the same as you do table lamps," he asks. "If a light is needed over a sofa, put a ceiling light there. If light is desired in the corner of the room, why not get it from the ceiling," he asks.

Tynell, who works mainly with metal and glass, says you can have greater lighting variety with ceiling fixtures because direct and indirect light is available. Let furniture stay on the floor, paintings on the wall, and utilize the air space below the ceiling for lights, particularly ideal in the small apartment or little home, he says. These fixtures should be adjustable so they may be moved easily from one spot to another.

THE AVERAGE HOME in Finland is 4 rooms, no matter how many in the family, points out Mrs. Tynell who visited America with her husband and assists him in his design work. She says that is one reason why the ceiling light is popular. She explains:

"Unlike America where children have nurseries our Finnish homes usually have just one bedroom for the entire family. We utilize all available floor and table space for our other comforts, so lighting is at the walls or ceiling. But many homes are now coming to the American viewpoint of more space and privacy for the family, particularly children.

Ceiling and wall lights are not only a practical solution for the small home, says Tynell, they help break up the expanse of the large living room, also.

Tynell who has been designing the varied-shaped wall and ceiling fixture since 1935 and who was a pioneer in the art of the pierced brass shade showed his first collection here in 1948.

NEW FIXTURES consist of bowl and cone shapes on pulleys as well as mushroom shapes and rectangular shapes which open like books of flat brass sheets. These are pierced in slits or dots or in Tynell's famous snowflake pattern. He has introduced, too, a brass and glass series with white sand blasted opal. One new fixture has three pear - shaped globes hanging at different levels.

Mrs. Tynell introduced a new type of metal wall sculpture. One scene was of a city with small colored rectangles of metals indicating buildings. Another showed metal birds fastened to metal squares for a different look in modern art.

Daily Household Chores Add Moisture to Homes

The destructive moisture within a house which causes dry rot and mold, thus reducing the value of a house, comes usually from sources seldom realized.

Doing the laundry for a family of four can, for instance, create four and one-third pounds of moisture in the air. Drying the same wash inside the house can increase the moisture vapor content of the air by another 26 pounds. Taking shower baths, washing dishes and cooking also add more moisture to the household atmosphere.

To prevent the moisture damage to your house that may follow in the wake of daily chores, be sre that your home is adequately ventilated.

IMPROVE HOMES

To maintain and beautify their homes, do-it-yourselfers last year spent approximately $3 billion. The Do-it-Yourself Information Bureau estimates that nearly a third —or $940 million—of this sum went for paint and wallpaper. Estimates are considerably higher for 1955. Some expect such expenditures to rise more than 30 per cent.

New Use Is Discovered

An industrial material, corrugated asbestos - cement sheets, has been used effectively to add a decorative touch to the home designed for himself by Elmer J. Manson, Lansing, Mich., architect.

Manson employed the sheets as a screening fence to connect a carport with the house. Given a bright coat of paint, the sheets provide color accent to the home's exterior and also create an interesting shadow design with their corrugations.

Corrugated asbestos - cement sheets have as their primary use the roofing and siding of industrial buildings. In recent years, however, many architects and designers are utilizing them for both home building and landscaping.

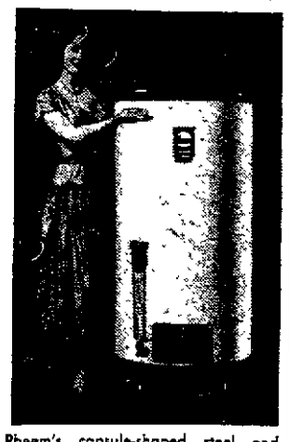
COLOR UNLIMITED

If you're tempted to think your color selection is limited when you plan to paint your home, remember that there are 400,000 colors —tints, shades and hues — that can be detected by the naked eye. With the spectroscope, you can detect 4,000,000! With the new color-mixing systems that have now been developed, your selection of paint colors is virtually unlimited.

New! Low-Cost Answer To Local Corrosion!
AMAZING RUSTPROOF RHEEM "COPPERMATIC" WATER HEATER HERE!

Marion homeowners can now own an automatic storage gas water heater that will not rust or fail from early corrosion. A tank of pure copper inside a tank of solid steel!

This new Rheem "Coppermatic" heater cannot rust — and withstands natural water corrosion many times longer than previous heaters. By longer service and heating efficiency, it will cut total water heating costs dramatically.



Rheem's capsule-shaped steel and copper tanks are "pressure-proved" to more than double normal operating pressures. This shape, plus multiple flues, gives far more heating area.

Copper is Ageless

Thin copper sheeting on the Statue of Liberty has resisted the weather of New York Harbor since 1885! Copper pipe remains usable after thousands of years! Rheem's complete inner tank is pure, rustless copper.

Women Adopt Do-It-Yourself Plan in Homes

Now-you-see-it, now-you-don't is becoming more and more a theme of American living.

A man is likely to fall asleep in his easy chair and wake up to a strange new setting. Mom is on the how-to-do-it beam and home is the outlet for her imagination and energy.

Paint rollers bring color to the wall so quickly that a cool room can become a warm room while a catnap is taking place. A table is likely to be antiqued and a fireplace front tiled while Dad takes a shower.

Life becomes even more simple for the do-it-yourself worker. A new self-adhesive plastic fabric may quickly cover any dry, flat surface, it is adhesive-backed and may be cleaned with soap and water. It requires no water, paste or tools to apply.

The plastic may be cut to required size, then peeled off its protective paper backing. The paper backing consists of squares to aid in cutting the fabric.

This new plastic fabric comes in solid colors, wood grain and marble effects as well as kitchen and nursery prints and peppermint stripes. The beauty of it is that it can be lifted from one place to another, an advantage in case it should wrinkle or "bubble."

It may be applied by amateurs to cabinets, walls, work areas, closets, shelves and furniture. Warped wooden tops of coffee and end tables may be made attractive again with this plastic fabric in a wood grain design. The material, available in 18-inch widths, is waterproof.

Clogged Sink Drains

Tips on Repair of Homes

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . use a rubber suction cup, known as a plunger or "plumber's friend," placing the mouth of the cup over the drain and working the handle up and down slowly.

DO . . . see whether a commerical chemical cleaner will do the job, using it only when there is a partial clogging and not when there is a complete clogging.

DO . . . if the suction cup and chemical cleaner fail to work, wriggle a length of hooked wire, or "snake," into the drain.

DO . . . as a last resort, remove the cleanout plug which usually is at the pipe bend under the sink, cleaning the trap area with a small piece of wire and an old tooth brush.

DO . . . after any or all of the above methods, flush the drain thoroughly for several minutes with scalding water.

DON'T . . . expect the rubber suction cup to work effectively unless there is a few inches of water in the sink and unless the overflow drain (if any) is plugged with cloth.

DON'T . . . be careless in the use of a chemical cleaner, following directions carefully to avoid being splashed by the solution.

DON'T . . . neglect to place a pail or other container under the trap when the cleanout plug is removed, as there is always a small quantity of water in the pipe.

DON'T . . . forget to replace the washer on the cleanout plug with a new one if it is worn or corroded.

DON'T . . . allow grease to accumulate in the drain in the future . . . preventing it by running the hot water for a few minutes after every dishwashing.

SHELLAC IS POPULAR

Shellac is a much-used coating for wood floors, stair treads and risers, linoleum and synthetic tile floors, in addition to wood trim and wood paneling.

FINISH JOB RIGHT

After you have completed a painting job, all papers and rags you have used should be taken outside and burned. Pour any unused paint back into its original container and seal it tightly. Brushes and paint rollers should be cleaned carefully, according to the directions on your paint can label, than stored where they will be protected from dust.

Two Basins of Water

A Sermonette

By REV J B HOLLOWAY
Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church

Text John 13 1-9

During the Lenten season millions of Christians around the world will be reading afresh the story of those significant events which culminated in the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ which we commemorate in our observance of Good Friday and Easter

Two basins of water are given considerable prominence in that story and play important parts in the unfolding of that history making drama which we find recorded in the four Gospels They provide action and enliven the interest of readers of the Gospel story in two different episodes but they continue to live today because they represent certain attitudes toward life which are prevalent in every generation

THE FIRST basin of water mentioned is the one Jesus used in washing His disciples feet and signifies an attitude of humble service It was customary in oriental lands for a host to provide a basin of water and a towel for washing the dust of the road from off the feet of his guests upon their arrival at his home

When Jesus and his party arrived in the guest chamber which had been provided for their observance of the Passover Feast the basin of water was ready for their use but who would assume the role of the servant and wash all their feet? The disciples had been quarrelling among themselves as they walked along the dusty road They had been contending over the relative position of prominence which each one was to occupy when their Master set up His Kingdom at Jerusalem There had been evidence of jealousy among them on other occasions and Jesus had reminded them that His Kingdom was of a spiritual nature and greatness would be measured by qualities of humility which they possessed and the unselfish service which they rendered rather than position and rank which they possessed

So to impress upon them this eternal truth Jesus proceeded to set them an example of humble service He who was supremely great being the Lord of all creation and God in human flesh was not above removing his outer garments and kneeling before each of them to wash the dust from off their feet Genuine humility and unselfish service of others are always true qualities of real greatness wherever they may be found

THE OTHER basin of water which played an important part in this unfolding drama was the one Pilate used in his vain attempt to vindicate himself before the howling mob which clamored for the crucifixion of Jesus

This basin of water typifies the shirking of responsibility and the shifting of blame onto other shoulders All the world recognizes that Pilate s washing of his hands while hypocritically proclaiming I am innocent of this man s blood' did not exhonorate him nor absolve him of the solemn obligation to deal honestly and justly with Jesus This man ,Jesus Christ eternally stands before the judgment seat of every man s conscience so that no one can escape the responsibility of personally facing Him and answering the question which confronted Pilate on that fateful occasion 'What shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ?'

Both basins of water are set before us each day One represents the numerous opportunities for performing some humble service to our fellowmen and thus follow the example of our Lord The other confronts us at every turn when a vital decision must be made How will we meet the responsibilities which face us along Life s journey? The supreme question which faces every person refers to his relation to the Son of God What shall I do with Jesus?'

Cutlass Found Useful Weapon By Sub's Crew

GROTON, Conn. (UP) — Most Navy men would consider a Civil War vintage cutlass a useless weapon aboard a submarine, but Capt. Eric L. Barr Jr., USN (retired), thinks differently.

Barr, twice winner of the Navy Cross and wartime skipper of the submarine Bluegill, always carried a supply of these blades. He said they were "mighty valuable weapons."

Now security director of the electric boat division of the General Dynamics Corp., Bar tells this story of how his crew of the Bluegill made use of the old swords:

"In May, 1945 when Japanese targets were becoming harder and harder to find, my crew came upon an island the Japs apparently had abandoned.

"We struck on this idea — submarines had done darn near everything else in the war, why not an invasion!"

Barr armed his invaders with the cutlasses, and soon the word was flashed from the island: "Bluegill' Island, formerly Pirates Island . . . captured. Stars and Stripes hoisted with appropriate ceremony. . . Strike off invasion medals. On to Tokyo-"

In later raids in Indo - China when submarines went ashore to blow up bridges and cut rails, the men of the Bluegill were armed again with swords.

"They were mighty valuable weapons—as morale-builders and symbols of Navy tradition," Barr said.

MOWER MOWED

GORHAM, Me. (UP)—The temperature was near zero and the ground was covered with several inches of snow when Harry A. Hoyt Jr., 31, gashed three toes with a power lawnmower. No, he wasn't trying to cut the grass. He had taken the mower outside to adjust it.

CHURCH WEDDING

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — Trinity Church figures in some wedding plans. Trinity is an 18-year-old girl who applied for a marriage license.
